Pro Bowl Classic

1942's greatest football game, the Pro Bowl Classic between the championship team of the National Football League and an All League team composed of stars selected from the other nine teams in the League will be held this year in Philadelphia, Pa. The date is December 27, the place, Shibe Park, the kick-off, 2:00 P.M.

This game is the greatest attraction which football has to offer. All the great stars of the Pro Bowl game will be seen in action. Cecil Isbell and Don Hutson of Green Bay, Mel Hein and Tuffy Leemans of the New York Giants, Slingin' Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins, Tossin' Tommy Thompson of the Philadelphia Eagles, Bill Dudley of the Pittsburgh Steelers, Sid Luckman and Danny Fortman of the Chicago Bears, and many, many others.

The entire proceeds of the game will be given to the United Seamen's Service. This organization provides medical care, rest and recuperation camps, and recreation centers for the men of the American Merchant Marine. These camps and centers are being established in all the principal port cities of the world, in the United States, the Caribbean area, Iceland, Russia, the British Isles, China, India and Australia—wherever American Flag merchant ships sail the seven seas. 40,000 men are now in the American Merchant Marine and the United States Maritime Commission is training 120,000 men to man the 2,300 new ships which will be commissioned before the end of 1943.

These are the men you will be helping when you purchase your tickets for the Pro Bowl Classic. They never made the headlines. They wear no uniforms, but theirs is a saga of raw, red courage and unselfish devotion to duty. These are the unsung heroes of the war who, through the darkness of night and the peril of submarine infested waters, are carrying guns, planes, tanks, blood plasma, and all the material of war to the fighting men on our far-flung fronts.

The United Seamen's Service is worthy of your support and that of every loyal sports fan. Buying a ticket for the Pro Bowl Classic will enable you not only to see the greatest football game of the year, but to do your bit for those "heroes in dungarees"—the men in the American Merchant Marine.

Tickets may be purchased in the New York Football Giants' office, 11 West 42nd Street, New York City, or by writing the Philadelphia Eagles Football Club, 22 South 17th Street, Philadelphia.

GIANTS COME TO CLOSE OF SEASON SPECKLED WITH WOES

WITH their game against the Brooklyn Dodgers today, the Giants close their National League season. It has been a campaign speckled with problems developed by the war and, everything considered, the New York team owes no apologies to anybody.

To be sure, it was not a season of tremendous glory in so far as victories were concerned. The Giants did not get into the playoff, which will bring together the Chicago Bears and the Washington Redskins. But the Owen outfit has had the satisfaction of giving the Washington club its only setback of the season.

The Giants were particularly hard hit by drains of manpower due to the war and, with what they had at their command, did a fine, robust, courageous job which at all times merited the ardent support of their followers. Here is the Giant record for the season to date:—

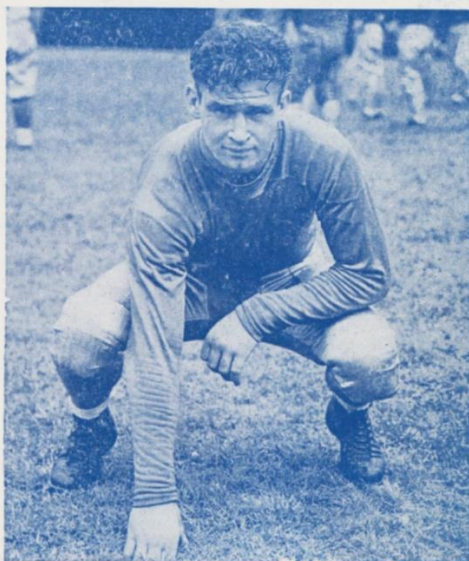

Giants, 14; Washington Redskins, 7.
Giants, 35; Philadelphia Eagles, 17.
Pittsburgh Steelers, 13; Giants, 10.
Chicago Bears, 27; Giants, 7.
Brooklyn Dodgers, 17; Giants, 7.
Giants, 14; Philadelphia Eagles, 0.
Washington Redskins, 14; Giants, 7.
Giants, 21; Green Bay Packers, 21.
Giants, 21; Chicago Cardinals, 7.

Giants and Dodgers Meet for Twenty-eighth Time in Classic

NOT all the classics of football are to be found in the ranks of the collegians. In the professional National League, there has grown up a rivalry which is just as intense as any you will find in the ivy colored records of the ancient varsities. No annuals are fought with more fervor, more vigor, more determination and more thrills for the spectators than are the meetings between the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

This rivalry was started in 1926, and today finds them meeting for the twenty-eighth time. The Giants show a big lead in the series, with 19 victories against the Dodgers' five, and three battles deadlocked. The Giants have scored 416 points, and the Brooklyns 178.

The Brooklyn deficit in the records is not a true index to the fire of the series in recent years. In 1941, the Dodgers won both games from the Giants. In fact, the Giants today were confronted with the sad fact that they had dropped four in a row to their Flatbush rivals, and the time had come to do something drastic.

The Dodgers took the second game of 1940 from the Owen combination, 14 to 6, won both 1941 games, 16 to 13 and 21 to 7, and grabbed the first encounter of 1942, at Ebbets Field, 17 to 7. Here is the record of the series:

1926—New York, 17; Brooklyn, 0. New York, 27; Brooklyn, 0.
1930—Brooklyn, 7; New York, 6. New York, 13; Brooklyn, 0.

Giants Are Third In East Section

The Giants went into today's battle with the Dodgers with third place in the Eastern division of the National League already clinched. The Washington Redskins took the top rung and the Pittsburgh Steelers second place.

The Chicago Bears, who today finish their regular season against the Chicago Cardinals, then come to Washington to tackle the Redskins for the professional championship and the leadership of American football.

The Bears have not been beaten this season, and lead in scoring with 355, and in defense, with 77. The standings follow:—

Let's Remember Now . . . One Year Ago Today PEARL HARBOR Buy Bonds Here

One year ago today our nation enjoyed the blessing of peace.

The Dodgers and Giants were battling out their traditional rivalry here before 54,000 enthralled spectators. Then, early in that thrilling spectacle, came the startling message: "Japs Attack Pearl Harbor." President Roosevelt appropriately called the Japs' sneak attack a "date that will forever live in infamy."

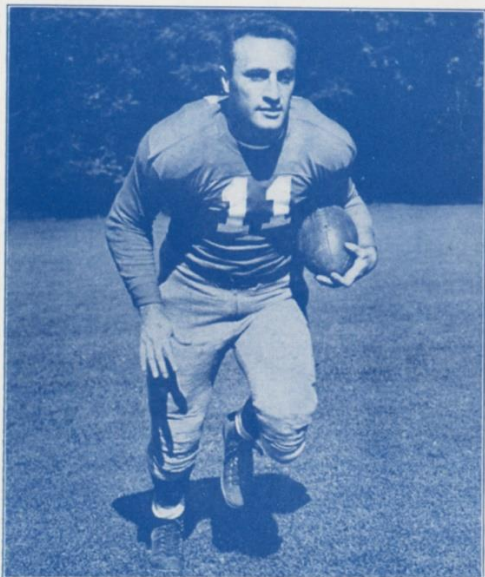

Much has happened since Dec. 7, 1941. Our world, our customs, our very lives have undergone great changes in the tremendous war effort. American fighters are fiercely engaged on distant battle fields. Here on the home front we are still privileged many recreational opportunities. For instance, the game here this afternoon.

Heeding the plea of the Treasury Department, the Football Giants' management decided that on this day, one year from Pearl Harbor, the fans gathered here would like to remember the date and make a timely contribution to our war effort. Simply subscribe for war bonds.

During the intermission between the halves Carl Waite, former All-American star at Rutgers and Georgetown, will conduct a war bond rally. He received extremely enthusiastic responses at bond rallies at two previous Giants home games. Waite sold $77,000 worth of bonds at the first rally. With Al Jolson's highest bid of $70,000 the total at the second rally skyrocketed to $192,000.

Highest bidder here today will be rewarded with the ball used in the game. Let's remember the date and send today's bond sale into new high figures.

Cheers for Our Mr. Leemans!

TUFFY LEEMANS

AT the close of this arduous football season, New York fans extend the hand of congratulation once again to Alphonse Tuffy Leemans, Steve Owen's durable, brilliant, hard-working, never-flinching, uncomplaining back. Today Leemans ends his seventh season with the New York club, and Polo Grounds enthusiasts hope he will come back for an eighth. However, Tuffy has a lucrative laundry business in Washington and with things as they are in Boomtown, it demands increasing attention. Leemans found this campaign perhaps tougher than the six previous ones in the pro league, as he suffered a severe head injury against the Bears. The two games he had to watch from the sidelines emphasized his skill and psychology value. Another round of cheers for our Mr. Leemans.
