CARDINAL POINTS

This is a tough week for the New York Giants. Wednesday night, Benny Friedman & Co., tackled the Spartans at Portsmouth while on Sunday, the Broadwayites are billed to exhibit their skill against the Chicago Cards.

Providence and Frankford are billed for a twin hook-up over the week-end. Saturday, the Steamrollers are billed in the Quaker suburb while on Sunday, the same clubs have it out at the Cycle-drome in Providence.

Chicago football fans are looking for a thriller Sunday when the undefeated Green Bay Packers lock horns with the Bears. These clubs are bitter rivals on the gridiron and when they meet it is a battle royal.

The Portsmouth Spartans, newcomers in Joe Carr's "cash and carry" loop, head to Stapleton for Sunday's combat. This should be a great duel between the Backfielders as both clubs are blessed with some superb carriers.

Ernie Nevers popped into the limelight again for the Chicago Cards with a 50-yard pass to Belden who scampered for the only touchdown in the Frankford game. When it comes to passing, Nevers is a second Friedman.

One of the best games of the season was staged last Sunday at the Polo grounds in Gotham, when the Giants continued their winning streak by taking a 9 to 7 tumble out of Stapleton. It was a hair-raiser, all the way.

Thanks to Frosty Peters' educated toe, the Providence Steamrollers tucked away a 3 to 0 victory over Depler's Brooklyn Dodgers. The former Illini backfielder sure has been a howling success with the Rhode Islanders.

Red Grange had another field day and the Chicago Bears triumphed over the Minneapolis Redjackets to the tune of 20 to 7. Lintzenich, the Bruins' recruit from St. Louis "U", got off several punts of the 70-yard variety.

Staging their best exhibition of the season, the Green Bay Packers smeared Portsmouth 47 to 13. The national champions had Griffin & Co. running in circles trying vainly to stop a varied overhead attack.

Bobby Cahn, diminutive referee from Chicago, is using the airplane so he can mix football and business. In order to handle the New York game at Portsmouth Wednesday, Cahn took the sky line and breezed in on time.

Blumer, the Cardinal guard, who has been getting considerable ink over his collegiate degrees, etc., continues to play bang up ball for the Chicago Cardinals. The veteran guard is in there every minute, playing consistently.

Rodriguez has developed into one of the Frankford Yellowjackets' most dependable carriers. He is a hard man to stop when lugging the cowhide and fights for every inch of ground. In another year, he should be an "ace".

Followers of the New York Giants are beginning to forget all about Red Flaherty, because Badgro is playing such sterling ball at end. Badgro is an expert pass snagger and Friedman finds him a handy man to work with.

Bill Senn is stepping along mighty fast for the Chicago Bears again. At the start of the season, Coach Jones wasn't using him much but in the recent games he has seen lots of action and his runs have featured the combats.

"Father" Lumpkin, former Georgia Tech luminary, is the big shot in the Portsmouth-Spartans backfield. Lumpkin takes his football without much protection as he never uses a headguard despite his line bucking tactics.

Hurdis McCrary is the leading point scorer for the Green Bay Packers. This former All-American is a fullback by trade but Coach Lambeau has been working him as a half ever since Johnny Blood joined the hospital squad.

Tomaini, the Newark end, has one thing to be satisfied about because he scored on the New York Giants. In the recent encounter which the Gothamites copped 34 to 7, Tomaini snagged a long pass for the Skeeters' only score.

Spellman is playing a bang up game at end for Providence. The husky wingman is one of the left-overs from the 1929 eleven and his work to date has more than upheld the confidence that Coach Jimmy Conzelman placed in him.

Hagberg is more than earning his "salt" with the Brooklyn aggregation. The former Buffalo Bison is one of those gridgers that can play any position and so far this season he has shown class at four different jobs.

The Green Bay Packers have completed their second season at home without a single defeat. The national champions now take the road for the remainder of the season and their schedule calls for seven contests abroad.
