For Your Convenience and Your Protection

There's a right way and a wrong way to do everything. Usually the right way is the easiest. Take leaving the stadium following the game for instance.

Thus far a kind Providence has prevented anyone from being trampled. But there has been just enough of the thoughtless "After me you come first" attitude, to displease many of our patrons, to say nothing of actually endangering their right to life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

Maybe it's not as bad as that but the stadium management would be derelict in its duties if it did not caution against too much crowding after the games. We also would like to take occasion to point out a few fundamentals regarding exits—exits which after all are for your convenience and your protection.

You will find five exits handy. Car owners who park their cars on the high school lot to the west of the stadium will kindly leave by the west fence exit immediately north of the stadium. If you park your car east of the stadium leave by the east fence gate directly east of the north end of the bleachers. Any of three exits will be handy for you if you parked your car north of the stadium or on streets leading to the stadium. In these instances choose one of the three exits at the main entrance. And please don't push, shove or crowd your neighbor as you file out even if we win 50 to 0. Thank you.

AN ALL OHIO EVENT IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE, MARKING CLEVELAND'S FIRST APPEARANCE AT UNIVERSAL STADIUM

PRO FOOTBALL

A GAME vs. TRADITIONS

If football isn't actually a game worth watching but depends on tradition, ballyhoo and pageantry to make it interesting, then National League Football in its present young stage may not carry off honors over the undergraduate game for some time to come, even though a better, smoother, more finished brand of ball is played by the post-graduate gridders.

Every argument has two sides. What do you think of post-graduate football as you see it here as compared to the undergraduate game? Which is more interesting? Where do you get your biggest thrills?

For the best letter received by the Spartan management on or before next Saturday a box seat for two will be presented for the Cleveland Indians game.

Here's a contest open to everybody. Get started on it tonight.

All the king's horses and all the king's men just couldn't keep Jap Douds off of anybody's All-American. So thought Grantland Rice in '28, Doud's greatest year at W. & J., and so thought the National pro football league higher-ups in 1930. He was the only unanimous all-pro league choice for any line position. He'll head line for the Spartans this year.

Heard Under the Showers

Presnell, Spartan backfield ace who upset Rockne's Four-Horsemen in their greatest grid year, says college football never gave him the thrill that was his when the Tanks downed the New York Giants last year. With but a few seconds to go, the score 13 to 7 in favor of the Giants, "Press" shot a pass to Alford for the touchdown which won for Ironton. Point after touchdown and victory came after the final whistle blew. Hope Press gets just as big a thrill tonight.

Lost—Somewhere between sunrise and sunset, a 138-pound man off the Spartan squad. After lots of Hawkshawing around it was found that everyone was accounted for, the absentee being just so much sweat or perspiration that was rolled off during one of "Potsy" Clark's practice sessions. Depending on weight of man and the temperature of the day, the Spartans lose from 3 to 7 pounds at every practice, and a bit more than that during every game. Do they get it back? We'll say they do! Five or six glasses of water and a single hearty meal and the boys trip down the Fairbanks as far as ever.

Ever see a left-handed forward pass artist? Well—Butch Gibson, Giant guard and tackle, is just that. This southpaw overhead chucker comes out of the line to do his stuff. Last year's fans will recall with what finesse he does it, too, for alternating with Benny Friedman, New York's 1930 gridiron high hope, he more than had his share in promulgating a puzzling aerial attack.

Yes, folks, the Giants still depend a lot on passing. While "Red" Christian Cagle is not quite the passer Friedman was, he is still good enough to play in our backyard any day. BUT. Ernie Nevers and his hefty Cardinal crew boasted of their aerial attack before they met the Spartans and were beaten at their own game. Perhaps the Giants will not be as cheery when they leave here.

LUMPKIN—Fullback

"But we've already got 12 fullbacks," Coach Alexander, was telling Roy ("Father") Lumpkin in 1928. "Well you've only got one now and that's me," Lump came back. And so the "rambling wreck from Georgia Tech" broke into fast company. Good and fast too for Tech's eleven were national champions that year. "Father" has starred three seasons with the Spartans.

HOLM—Fullback

Collier's All - American listed "Tony" as one of football's all-time best in 1929. The full name is Bernard Patrick Holm, in case you are interested. His Alma Mater, U. of Alabama—but you couldn't have forgotten that. With Providence last season "Tony" is a most welcome addition to the 1931 Spartan edition.

PRESNELL—Halfback

When Notre Dame used to begin a year with what scribes called the country's greatest team they would sooner or later have to "Ask Nebraska." Glenn "Press" Presnell answered the question so well the Irish thought better about playing the Cornhuskers. He stopped the Four Horsemen, made All-American in '27, starred for Ironton in '28, '29, '30. One of the league's best triple threats.

LONG—End

Knute Rockne said his Irish seldom if ever met a stronger end than Louie Long, Southern Methodist, '27, '28, '29 and '30, a wingman of All-American calibre who is expected to go places and do things for the Spartans this year. Team mates call him "Lucky" Long but Louie puts little confidence in Dame Fortune. He works hard.

He is a "man who" in every sense of the word, Zuppke called the best player he ever coached. General Pershing congratulated him as Coach and Captain of the Championship A. E. F. eleven, while the French were all for giving Potsy and his whole team a flock of Croix de Guerre's. He is the man who helped Zuppke coach at Illinois after the war, a man who coached championship teams at Kansas and Butler Universities and a man who is giving Portsmouth the best Spartan team it ever had.

Presnell's 55-yard run for a touchdown in the Cardinal game thrilled every fan with delight.

Just so, do Hunt's canned fruits thrill all those who eat them.

Presnell is served these fine fruits at his training table.

"Father" Lumpkin, who played a prominent part in this spectacular run, also uses Hunt's canned fruits in his training diet.

One of the finest line crackers the plains at Army have turned out in many a gridiron moon sells stocks and bonds off season. Yes, we mean Mr. Christian Cagle, and yes, girls, he's married. Just how good Mr. Cagle is when stacked up against Holm, Schwartz and Lumpkin will remain to be seen. Put your money on 22.

So far the fair sex has failed to prove the lucky one on the matter of the wrist watches that Klivans have been giving away after each game to holders of the lucky numbered program. The first one went to Herschell Spence, Vulcan employee, while the second one was gathered in by Francis Hammond, of 502 Fifth street. Perhaps Lady Luck will smile on you tonight. Watch the number on the score board at the end of the third period and compare it with the one on your program.

Here's one for the gridiron coaches of the downtown variety. Twenty-four good men on the squad. Two must go after tonight's game. Let's have your guess.
We admit we gave up long ago.

The stadium with Manager Harold B. Griffin at the managerial wheel, has been systemized to the extent of the near perfection dreamed of but rarely attained by efficiency experts. The crowds at all games have been well handled.

BODENGER—Guard

Morris Bodenger comes from the Mardi Gras state, played for Tulane's greatest teams in '28, '29 and '30 and enters pro football with the confidence that All-American mention and All-Conference honors give a man. Off season he runs a Sandwich Shop. In season he is 230 pounds of toughness in every game.

EMERSON—Tackle

Finding it too hard to part with his team mates Shelly and Petersen, Gover Conner Emerson treked up here from Texas with them. Texas U., elected "Ox" Emerson captain for 1931 but he preferred to don purple togs. He is an all-Southwest linesman who will take good care of a tackle position in the pro league's faster company.

ROBERTS—Guard

Fred is this blond giant's middle name. He's in every play until the whistle blows. Fred or "Rob"—pay your money and take your choice—captained Iowa's great '29 team. He made all-conference guard and has been mentioned in numerous All-American line-ups. A tower of strength in the Spartan wall '30 and '31.

Heard Under the Showers

Portsmouth High now boasts of the 1930-31 basketball champions and also the State's best band. The Trojans have shown well, though it is too early in the season to predict what a secondary school eleven might do. But at least they are started right, and so are the Spartans. Watch the dust of both.

* * * * *

While this may be digressing a little from our title of "Under the Showers," we must tell you of what we overheard in the press box. The occasion was the Portsmouth High-Columbus East game and the Trojans were sending such fine interference ahead of their ball carrier that even Lynn A. (Raven Croaker) Wittenberg of the Times staff was satisfied. As Tod Cropper's miraculous toe sent still another place kick between the bars, Lynn settled back in his chair and spoke of something that was in the minds of all. To-wit, the excellent coaching and management of this year's gridiron aggregations.

* * * * *

In answer to the fair Fanette, the name of the P. H. S. player bearing No. 57 is not "Heinz," as Pete Minego erroneously told her, but Hart. Anyway, Heinz has only 56 varieties now, or so John Wager, Spartan center, tells us. You see, he canned his beans.

McKALIP—End

Bill is a great wingman. Honorable mention All-American '28 and '29 with Oregon's All-Coast Champs. Third All-American team '30 and unanimous choice All-Pacific Coast End, '29 and '30. Though hit with a temperature of 103 degrees before game time he put Oregon into the winning column against New York U's greatest team of '28. He's got what victories are made of.

SHELLEY—Halfback

There'll be "three and two" cheers for Dexter ("Deck") Shelley this season with the Spartans if this Texan repeats his college record. He was captain of Texas U's championship 1930 team, all south western half and honorable mention All-American, '28, '29 and '30. A fine broken field man, punter and passer.
