Foreword

THE NEW YORK FOOTBALL GIANTS now enter their seventh consecutive season as representatives of New York City in the National Football League. This has only been made possible by the response of local football fans, who have concluded that professional football as played by the Giants and their fellow clubs in the League is REAL football. Since 1925, when the Giants first trotted out on the gridiron at the Polo Grounds, there has been a steady increase in the number of football followers in attendance.

The Management of the Giants appreciates the endorsement of their endeavors to provide good, clean football, however rough it may be in spots, due to the zeal displayed by players, and extends thanks to those who have contributed in any way toward the success of the Giants, and professional football in general.

Don't Miss this Inter-City Contest

Histories, New York Giants, 1931

"CHANG" ARTMAN—10—Guard

Makes his bow in professional football for the first time this season. Played as guard and tackle for Leland Stanford under the watchful eye of "Pop" Warner and despite his high weight is very fleet of foot. Hails from Long Beach, California.

"RED" BADGRO—17—End

In this stalwart 190 pound son of the University of Southern California, the Giants have one of the greatest defensive ends ever to bring down a ball-carrier, as all those who saw last year's memorable battle with the Packers of Green Bay will testify. And "Red" is not a one sport man either, he belongs to the St. Louis Browns and played ball in Texas all during the summer.

DALE BURNETT—18—Back

Last year, in his first year with the Giants, Burnett's pass-catching and ball-carrying won him recognition as one of the best prospects in the League. Weighing 190 pounds, he is in fine shape as he played pro basketball during the off season. He comes from Emporia Teachers College, Kansas.

"BROADY" BROADSTONE—4—Tackle-Guard

Weighing 210, Broadstone was for three years a star tackle at the University of Nebraska where he had a unique record. For, afflicted by bad sight, he was forced to wear glasses during his first two years as a player. He did this with the help of a specially made helmet. However, his eyes are now better and he is able to play without spectacles.

"RED" CAGLE—12—Back

Cagle, for three years one of the nation's outstanding backs, and universally named as All American, was one of the greatest backs West Point ever produced. But he's a better player now than he was then. He has learned lots of football since his baptism of fire in the game with the rough and tough Green Bay Packers last year. He now weighs 170. When not playing football "Red" sells bonds.

"TURTLE" CAMPBELL—15—End

"Turtle," with his funny looking headgear, is one of the best, most popular and most colorful ends the Giants ever had. He played baseball during the summer and has gained weight. He comes from Emporia Teachers College and now weighs 200 pounds.

"RAY" FLAHERTY—6—End

Ray comes back to the Giants after having coached at Gonzaga College during all of last year. Giant fans will remember him for his fine playing during the 1929 season. He now weighs 190 lbs. and aside from his accurate eye in the throwing of forward passes, Flaherty is one of the best ends in pro football.

"MACK" FLENNIKEN—29—Back

"Mack" came to the Giants last year in mid-season from the Chicago Cardinals. He is a big, rangy fellow, weighing about 200 pounds. He is an exceptionally fine blocker and with his coaching experience should make a fine quarterback. His home is in Fort Worth, Texas.

"BUTCH" GIBSON—11—Guard

Giant followers of last season will remember "Butch" as the guard who came out of the line to throw a left handed forward pass. The toothless running guard played baseball all summer and is now faster than ever. His weight is about 200 and his Alma Mater is Grove City.

"LEN" GRANT—3—Tackle

"Len" came to the Giants last year fresh from N. Y. U. and, although hampered by a bad knee, put up a very strong battle at tackle. This year, weighing 235, he is lighter than last season and harder. He worked during the off season as a life guard and as an auto mechanic.

"ACE" GUTOUSKY—20—Back

While attending Oklahoma City University, "Ace" was a member of the Oklahoma City Fire Department. He weighs about 190 pounds and while at college made a fine record at baseball and football.
