LEEMANS ON WAY TO RECORD

Tuffy Leemans, sensational young Giant back, is on his way to a new ground-gaining record in the National League. The former George Washington back has only to maintain his present clip over the second half of the season to surpass Beattie Feathers' 1934 record of 1,004 yards. Leemans has gained 505 yards in six games, which is six yards better than Doug Russell, the League's best ground-gainer last fall, piled up in the entire 1935 season.

Bring On Those Bears

Back at the top again and boasting an unbroken string of six victories, the Chicago Bears invade the Polo Grounds next Sunday seeking to maintain their hold on the lead in the western division.

Leading the invasion of the Halas array is none other than the Bronko himself. That's bad news for the Giant forwards who face the task of stopping Nagurski, the greatest fullback football has ever known. Nagurski after a year out of the game because of an infected hip, is back in his old time form and has pulverized opposition lines for almost 300 yards in six games, half of this gain being made in his last two starts.

With the Bronko back leading interference the Bears' great running back, Beattie Feathers, who holds the all-time ground gaining record of the National League is again picking up yardage in amazing style. Feathers has an able relief too in Ray Nolting, recruit back from Cincinnati, who has been sensational in most of the Bears' victories.

Not to overlook "Automatic" Jack Manders, whose powerful booting from placement cost the Giants the title in 1933 and also won other Giant games in the past few seasons. Nor is Keith Molesworth, scrappy little safety, who can squeeze through a knothole, going to be easy to stop.

The Giants have beaten the Bears in the Polo Grounds only once since 1928, that was in the play-off for the title in 1934. The Bears are out to maintain this streak and get revenge for the setback the New Yorkers handed them at Wrigley Field last fall, which setback incidentally just about kept the Bears out of the title play-off last fall.

The Bears will also present a marvelous line again with Bill Karr and Bill Hewitt at the ends, big George Musso at one tackle and Joe Stydahar, West Virginia tackle who is rated along with the Giants own Art Lewis, one of the best young tackles in the circuit. Danny Fortmann of Colgate and Eddie Michaels of Villanova, both members of the All-star team, have made the grade as guards for the Bears.

It looms as the outstanding game of the pro season and is the only scheduled clash of the season between the clubs. Be sure to secure your reserved seats early. The ticket sale opens tomorrow morning in the offices of the New York Football Giants, 11 West 42nd Street. No advance in prices. Reserved seats, $2.20.

RULES OF MAJOR LEAGUE FOOTBALL SUMMARIZED BY WILFRID SMITH

Professional football, in the past three seasons, has altered the code of rules under which colleges and universities play the game. The changes have not been numerous but they have been important.

The most important change permits forward passes to be thrown from any point behind the scrimmage line. The college rule permits forward passes from any point FIVE yards behind the scrimmage line.

In professional football the goal posts are on the goal lines.

Professional football declined to adopt the "dead ball" rule of the collegiate code.

Flying blocks and flying tackles are permitted in the professional game. The professional rule against clipping, that is, knocking down an opponent from the rear, is strictly enforced. The penalty is loss of 25 yards, as compared with the collegiate rule which penalizes infractions with the loss of 15 yards.

Professional players may be stationed any place on the field so long as they do not advance within 10 yards of the ball before it is kicked.

At the kickoff, the pros may kick from a dirt tee. Substitute players may communicate with their teammates immediately on entering the game. Coaches must be notified when the limit of three times out have been taken in a half.

When the ball carrier is run out of bounds or is tackled at any point within 15 yards of the side line, the ball will be placed in play at a corresponding point 15 yards from the side of the field.

Offside penalties on the defense within its own 10 yard line have been minimized. Instead of loss of five yards, customary rule, the penalty in this area now is half the distance to the goal.

Here are the two most important changes in the pro rules for this fall:

1. A fumbled ball, except fumbles resulting from lateral passes, may be advanced by either team, no matter whether the ball strikes the ground or not. On fumbled laterals, the rule remains the same. The offense may recover and advance; the defense only may recover unless the ball is caught in the air. Then it may be advanced. Fumbled kicks may be recovered by the kicking team. They can not be advanced unless the receiver of the kick gains possession and then fumbles when tackled.

2. The penalty for two forward passes on the same down has been changed. In the past there have been several instances where a forward pass was completed successfully and after the ball had been advanced for a long gain, an attempted lateral pass actually became a second forward pass. Under the collegiate rule the ball is brought back to the point at which it originally was put into play. The new professional rule provides for a loss of FIVE yards from the point at the second and illegal forward pass.
