Pottsville Hopes to Stage Comeback and Hand Frankford Pair of Reverses

Ed Weir's Players Have Worked Hard for Week-end Contests with Maroons

Pottsville and Frankford.

That was the game that in previous years had the fans on edge from the beginning of the season.

The Maroons have not been going so great. They were beaten again on election day in New York, but immediately following that reverse at the hands of the Giants, Wilbur Henry and the rest of his Buds returned to Pottsville and began working for the contests with the Jackets.

It's like one of these Yale-Princeton battles. The Tigers could lose every game on the schedule and defeat the Elis and the season is a success. That is just about how the Pottsville fans and players view the present situation.

Beat Frankford and the season is a success. Big Pete Henry is anxious to get back into the running with a pair of wins and that is what two triumphs would do for the Maroons. Put them right in the thick of the championship fight.

The upstaters have four former players of Ernie Nevers' Duluth Eskimos in their lineup in Blood and Rooney, backfield players and Rooney an end and Keisling a 243-pound tackle who is about as tough as he is enormous. Several of the Pottsville players have been switched this season as the squad is rather shorthanded.

A quartet of the visitors formerly wore flannels of the Jackets. They were Frankford favorites at one time. They are Herb Stein, Joe Carp, Johnny Budd and Hap Moran. Stein has been at Pottsville a number of seasons. Carp and Budd were with the Maroons last year while Moran joined the squad several weeks after the season got under way.

Hap has made a big hit with the upstaters by his dashing play and is fighting to the last whistle blows. He has been a big factor in whatever success the team has attained and can take a lot of punishment.

Friedman and His Much-Vaunted Forward Passes Fail to Materialize

Jackets Trounce Wolverines to Snatch League Lead by 25 to 7 Score

Mr. Benny Friedman, formerly a Michigan star and heralded in pro football as the greatest thrower of forward passes was handed a rude setback by the Weirmen in the local stadium last week. When the players wearing the Frankford uniforms were all washed up they learned that the final count was 25 to 7.

And it was some time before the home talent, or visitors for that matter, were washed up for the game was played under conditions just as unsatisfactory as the opener with the Dayton Triangles. The day was not exactly suited for the tossing of aerals and Mr. Friedman did not choose to pass often, but his efforts in that direction went for naught as the receiver invariably was surrounded by a Frankford clad athlete.

Frankford worked just opposite and aerals played a big part in their triumph. They were off to a 13 point lead in the first quarter before the Wolverines knew what it was all about. Off tackle plays by Mr. Wally Diehl and two passes, Diehl to Rogers and another Mercer to Oehlrich paved the way for the first touchdown, Arnold Oehlrich scamping 21 yards for the initial score.

For the next touchdown Wally Diehl broke into the lime-light getting the ball on the Detroit 41-yard line and legging it past the scrimmage line and secondary defense for another six pointer. An intercepted forward pass by Stockton in the second quarter gave Frankford a 19-0 lead at half time, Houston running 30 yards.

The lone tally of the visitors also came from an intercepted forward pass by Lloyd Sedbrook a substitute who ran 60 yards to make the Wolverines' only touchdown. The Jackets' final tally was a contribution by Mr. Fait Elkins, Indian Chief, who replaced Mercer at quarterback.

Steam Roller Comes Here Next Saturday to Avenge the 10-6 Defeat of October 7

George "Wildcat" Wilson, "Gus" Sonnenberg and Other Stars with Conzelman's Outfit

Looks very much as if there will be another battle for first place here soon.

The Steam Roller comes next Saturday and by and large the opinion of the experts is that the team coached by Jimmy Conzelman is the best in the National League—outside of the Jackets.

Just remember the Roller has something to fight for. They are out to avenge a 10-6 defeat administered by the Jackets at Providence on Sunday, October 7 and fans who know their arithmetic are cognizant of the fact that said defeat was the only one sustained by the Roller this season.

They have a great forward passing team and in the line-up are players who are sure to make things uneasy for the Jackets. No need to mention the whole squad of eighteen as several will suffice at this writing. We will tell more next week.

George Wilson, who headed Wilson's Wildcats in the days of the American League and who in his college days starred at the University of Washington, is one of those collegians who gets better and better in the pro game. Wilson is now one of the game's real headliners.

He is every inch the football player, performing all his tasks with the consummate ease and smoothness that delights the expert. He is one of the few real triple threat stars. At times he thrills the spectators by carrying the ball in one hand like a loaf of bread and tackling opponents without using his hands, using a powerful shoulder drive to upset the carrier. Wilson hits with terrific force behind his 190 pounds of bone and muscle.

Another tough foe for the Jackets is Gus Sonnenberg, the Providence player who hails from Dartmouth and who also is one of the leading wrestlers of the country.

Sonnenberg, five foot six, tackle, is built so close to the ground that he weighs 200 pounds and drop kicks goals accurately anywhere within the 40-yard line and on occasions can drop them from midfield. The former Dartmouth star is quick as the proverbial flash and is another player who is assisting the Steam Roller in its great fight to capture the National League championship.

A great game which should draw a record crowd. Get your seats early.

Frankford and Giants Wage Scoreless Tie in Sunday Contest at Polo Grounds

Yellow Jackets' Band and Post 211 Blare Forth Music While 700 Fans Cheer

The old familiar sea of mud was the scene of Sunday's game between the Jackets and Giants in New York. The teams fought hard with the final result a scoreless deadlock.

Rain dampened the occasion in several ways. The field was a veritable quagmire while New York football fans decided to stay indoors, the biggest part of the audience being some 700 Frankford fans who made their annual football pilgrimage to Gotham.

The Frankford faithful were accompanied by the Yellow Jackets' Band and Legion Post 211 Bugle Corps and every place they won the plaudits of New York crowds for their appearance and ability as musicians.

The game itself was a hard fought affair. Naturally Frankford would have gloried in a triumph for it would have put the boys out in front all by themselves but it was a treacherous day for football and playing it safe proved to be the better game.

It was no day for taking chances as the probabilities are that said chances may have proved very costly. Frankford virtually swept the Giants off their feet in the first half and at one time it looked as if they would score but a try for a placement by Diehl went wide of the mark. In the first half Frankford made five first downs to one for New York.

The Giants went at it hammer and tongs at the start of the final half and no denying they sure were entitled to the third period and also looked dangerous when Jack McBride made a try for a placement from the 20-yard line to fail. At the start of the fourth quarter the Giants again missed another field goal try by the same McBride but for the rest of the game Frankford came to the fore and had the upper hand.

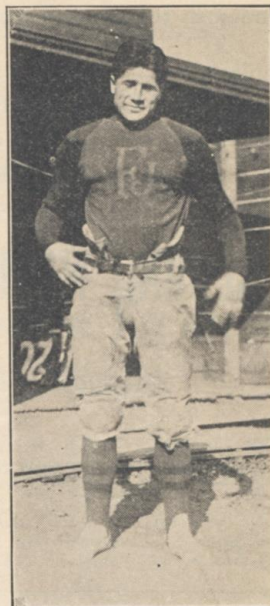

The records show that the New Yorkers were credited with five first downs in the final half against two for Frankford, but they were all the result of forward passes for New York completed eight out of fifteen aerials for a gain of 56 yards while the best Frankford could do was one in five passes for a gain of eight yards.

The much vaunted Giants' line could not stop the Hornets who gained repeatedly from scrimmage while the Jackets' forwards were equal to every test.

Ed Weir started the same backfield that opened the Detroit game with Mercer, Rogers, Oehlich and Diehl in action. They played the entire contest, Rogers' place being taken by Roepke in the last minute when the latter was brought in to try a goal from placement from the 17-yard line.

It is seldom that kickers of the calibre of Diehl, Roepke and Jack McBride fail to score placements at the distance at which they were tried on Sunday, but the ball was so heavy that the result appeared almost inevitable although an exceptional boot in any instance would have decided the game in the favor of the successful kicker's team.

Charlie Rogers sure gave the Gotham fans a treat by the manner in which he ran back punts. Once he appeared thrown for a big loss but reversed his own tracks to make a huge gain. Diehl on several occasions posed for a forward and then ran the ball and made gains of ten and twenty yards while Rogers' run of thirty yards was the longest of the game. Arnold Oehlich played his usual sterling game to win the plaudits of the fans while the work of the entire line was remarkable.

Interference Seldom Gets Credit for Great Play in Modern Football

Stoney McLinn, Evening Ledger Columnist, Points Out

Case of Arnold Oehlrich, of Jackets

By Stoney McLinn in Evening Ledger

Among the letters which come to the desk of this reporter are many deploring the newspaper emphasis on the play of backfield stars at the expense of linemen who frequently make it possible for the ballbearers to get away on long and sensational gallops. The point is well taken.

However, men who had been watching football as experts more years than we have lived admit it virtually is impossible for them to remove their eyes from that BALL so they may see the fine work of a tackle or guard.

Modern football throws the spotlight on the attack. Offensively, at least, a spectator seldom sees the tackle or guard do the heavy work in the line that enables a back to throw a long pass, boot a 60-yard punt or break through for a first down.

But there is another player who is an important cog in the machine and whose name seldom, if ever, appears in the headlines. He is the interfering and line-supporting halfback.

Probably some of you have watched the Frankford Yellow Jackets play or have carefully read the stories of their games, without knowing that a lad named Arnold Oehlrich is in no small measure responsible for the success of that magnificent pro team.

Rogers, Mercer, Stockton, Roepke, Diehl, Elkins, Homan—Yes, you do know how sensationally these athletes have fought in the Hornets' triumphant journey along the gridiron trail. But you may not know that without the gritty labor of Oehlrich as interferer and secondary defender the Jackets might not be where they are.

Oehlrich was on Nebraska's team last year and Coach Weir, a Cornhusker in his gridiron days, knew what he was doing when he brought the star defensive back to Frankford.

This week-end will just about settle the Yellow Jacket's National Professional League championship hopes. The enemy will be the Pottsville Maroons—in Frankford on Saturday and in the anthracite region on Sunday.

These teams are ancient and traditional grid rivals—the only major pro teams in Pennsylvania now. By winning two, the Maroons may scramble Frankford's pennant dreams and also be in a position to claim the State title.

Furthermore, four athletes who were members of the Hornets' team in late years now are fighting for dear old Pottsville. And the coach is Big Pete Henry, All-American for two years when with W. and J. and now anxious to gain nation-wide recognition as a tutor by beating Frankford.

Hap Moran, the pet of the Hornets' nest in 1926, will be carrying pumpkins for Pottsville. Johnny Budd, line giant for Lafayette in his col-

Pro-Football Shows the "All-Americans" at Their Best

Looking back over the football stars of yesterday, there are numerous grid greats who have come from various colleges in the country. The newspapers print selections of prominent coaches and officials for their mythical "All-American Team."

All football fans hear or read of those selected. Many fans see them in action, but the majority have to be content with either the local high school or some nearby college for his Saturday afternoon hobby during the autumn. The local college probably has a star or two, but all good lovers of the game long to see the stars or "All-Americans" as they are known. Yet, thousands never have this privilege. Many cannot afford the high price of the tickets to see the college games in which the "would be" All-American stars play.

Numerous sportsmen never think of reading the line-ups of the professional football teams of their city, particularly those living in cities that boast of teams in the National Professional Football League.

What are they missing?

Look over the line-ups and you will find on them many ex-college stars. The names of these stars during their college career seemed to be on everyone's lips. Now, simply because they are out of school, they are forgotten. Yet, they are better football players than ever.

Let us turn to the Detroit Wolverines with Benny Friedman, one of the greatest of modern passers, and Benny Oosterban his team-mate, a great end and pass receiver. These men were two of the best grid stars ever to wear Michigan jerseys. The Chicago Bears boast such stars as Paddy Driscoll, Little Joe Sternamen—the second Walter Eckersall. Do you recall Lew Lewellyn, the great Nebraska star, selected for the all-professional team of 1927. I'm sure you do. He is now to be seen playing with the Green Bay Packers, Wisconsin's representative in the National League.

The Giants of New York—Whew! Look at this bunch of stars, Hinkey Haines, Jack McBride, Bruce Caldwell and Tony Plansky. The New York Yankees have Gibby Welch, the Pitt star, and Bo Molenda. With Providence are Jimmy Conzelman and Curly Oden. Out in Dayton is Earl Britton, the artillery for the famous Red Grange, and in Philadelphia, the Frankford Team also sports some "All-Americans." Among these are Ed Weir, Walter Camp's "all-time All-American tackle," Chuck Kassell, Harold Hanson, Charley Rogers, Jack Roepke, each one being a "great" from his Alma Mater, and Houston Stockton the sensation of the Pacific Coast in 1925.

More Frankford fans attended the game at the Polo Grounds last Sunday than were in attendance from New York.

Bruce Caldwell certainly got injured quick. According to several New York writers he was injured in running back the opening kickoff.

FRANKFORD PLAYERS VOTE

A record vote was polled in the presidential election and while many Frankford players were far away from home they were patriotic enough to see that their ballot was among those cast. They had written home some time ago for "Absent Voters' Ballots" and registered their vote and had the same sworn to before a notary and forwarded to their election precincts in due time.

RAIN HALTED GAMES

Quite a few teams in this section called off their games last Sunday. No team in this vicinity played while even clubs like Atlantic City, Orange and Stapleton called off their contests. The Millville-Atlantic City opening contest will be played later.

PRO GRID STAR CHOSEN AS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Green Bay, Wis.—The next District Attorney of Brown County will be a professional football player. Vernon C. Lewellyn, halfback of the Green Bay Packers, of the National League, was elected on the Republican ticket on Tuesday.

Lewellyn, who was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1924, also pitches for the Green Bay Baseball Club.

Gossip You Like to Read About the Teams

Looks as if the Steam Roller and Jackets are due to fight it out for the pennant although the Bears and Giants still have plenty to say. The game with the Roller here next week should be a sell-out.

The Maroons have been doing quite a bit of traveling. They have played away at Providence, Green Bay and New York. Now they are here today. Four games away before returning home. All the contests resulted in defeat. Today will make reverse No. 4.

The Yankees are now on a trip in the West. Last Sunday they lost to the Bears. Tomorrow they are in Green Bay while on November 18 Pyle's men appear in Detroit. Now, perhaps, Mr. Friedman and his managers will learn which is the best drawing card, the Jackets or Yankees.

The Giants hope to pick up some lost ground with a long stay at the Polo Grounds.

Jack Britton is sure earning his money with the Dayton Triangles. The former Illinois star is just about the whole show behind the line. He lugs the ball about every third time beside doing all the passing and punting.

Pete Jackson, former Missouri star, has come through with bells on for the Detroit Wolverines. Jackson was off the gridiron for two seasons but he asked Manager Andrews for a chance at full-back and has filled the bill.

Boob Darling has earned his spurs with the Green Bay Packers. After a year on the bench, the recruit center played the entire game against Dayton and his brilliant defensive play was an outstanding feature of the contest.

When it comes to guards they don't make 'em much better than Michalske, the New York Yankee veteran. He follows the ball closely and is on top of every play. Often he pulls out of the line and nips a pass play in the bud.

Several of the clubs have been making offers for a couple of Chicago Cardinal players, but Manager Chris O'Brien is sticking tight so that he will have his club intact for the eastern invasion and the Bear game.

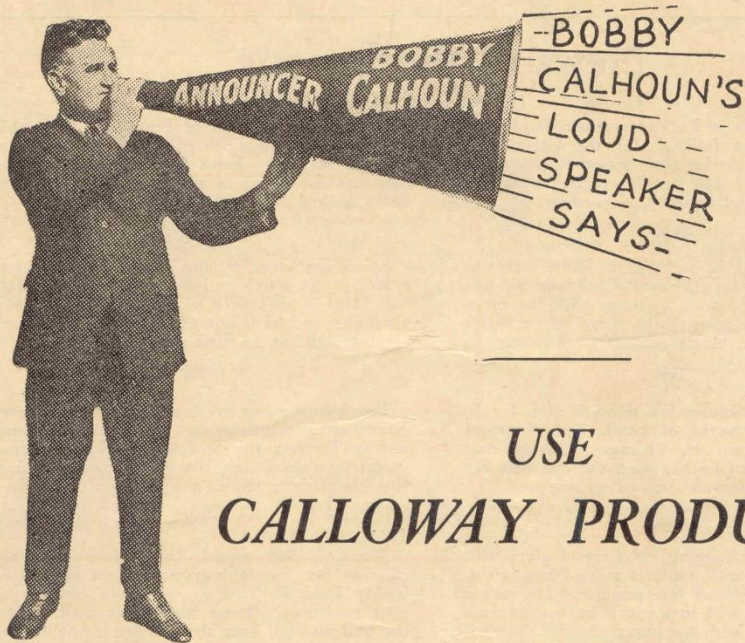

Harvey and Hanny, a pair of heavyweight ends, are doing good service for the Providence Steam Rollers. Hanny was with the Bears last fall while Harvey has played with several pro clubs. Both of them are fast for big fellows.

DROPS DEAD AT GAME

Providence Football Fan Expires After Wilson's Winning Pass

Providence, R. I.—T. E. Beausoleil, 44, of Pawtucket, jumped from his seat in the Providence Cycle Drome bleachers Sunday to cheer "Wildcat" Wilson, of the Providence Steam Rollers, as the player completed a 40-yard forward pass which resulted in the only score of the game against Benny Friedman's Detroit Wolverines.

A moment later, Beausoleil slumped between the seats dead, while thousands around him continued to cheer, unmindful of the tragedy.

A nephew who had accompanied the man to the game attracted the attention of others sitting nearby when the excitement had subsided, and doctors were summoned but were unavailing.

Rosey Rosatti has won a berth with the New York Giants. He is a veteran tackle and has been on the postgraduate gridiron for six seasons. Rosatti knows his football and is a topnotcher when playing on the defensive.

Larry Walquist is back in the game again for the Chicago Bears. The former Illinois flash was gashed badly in the Giants' fray but he performed like the Walquist of old in the game with Benny Friedman's tribe.

EACH COLLEGE FOOTBALL PLAYER IS VALUED AT $10,000 BY PROFESSOR

Chicago—The average football player in larger universities brings $10,000 to his school through gate receipts and endowments, James Weber Linn, Professor of English at the University of Chicago, said recently.

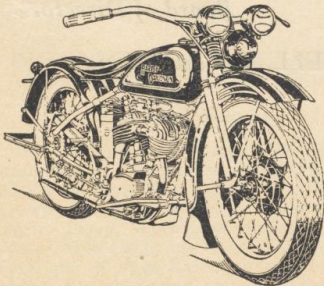

Speaking before a group of football enthusiasts, Professor Linn said:

"Many of the big universities clear $200,000 a year in their football season. That's $600,000 for the players in three years of eligibility. Divide that by a squad of sixty men and it means each player has paid $10,000 each in the gate receipts alone.

"What does he get in return? Only the opportunity to sweat blood and suffer cracked ribs on the field and try to keep up with his studies. Why, he ought to have the best special attention obtainable."

Once in a while some praise is heard for an official and George Lawrie, the Chicago referee, is being spoken of highly for his work. Lawrie is always right on top of the play and he hustles the teams along pretty fast.

No doubt, you will remember Jim Thorpe, Ernie Nevers, Red Grange, McGinley and Heinie Miller, of Penn. Tut Imlay, Fritz Pollard, Jim Crowley, of the famous Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, Doug Wycoff, of Georgia Tech., Fat Henry, of W. & J., and Glenn Killinger, of State. Each one of these have appeared in Frankford within the past year or two. You may see these stars and others to come for less than half of the price of some college games in which there are only one or two stars.

lege days and a Yellow Jacket in 1926, will be a guard for the Miners.

Joe Carp, tackle on Frankford's championship team two years ago, and Herb Stein, another famous lineman who was All-American as collegian and as a pro wore the colors of the Hornets, will be in those week-end battles with a reason to fight.

Then there will be Tony Latone, who is recognized as the foremost line-cracker of modern football. Even Bub Weller, giant tackle for the Jackets, will think a locomotive is running wild when Tony the Miner hits that line.

POTTSVILLE HOPES TO STAGE COMEBACK

A couple of newcomers in the visitors' backfield are the Goodwin brothers, Merle and Earle, twins who were at Bucknell with Tony Kostos under Charlie Moran.

Ed Weir's men began hard training for the week-end games on Wednesday and feel confident that they will win both and be in first place for the two crucial contests with the Steam Rollers next week.

FRIEDMAN'S MUCH-VAUNTED PASSES FAIL TO MATERIALIZE

It came in the closing period. Friedman had retired in the third quarter and Eddie Shearer took his place. Eddie also tossed aerials with about as much success as Benny, which was none. Elkins, however, intercepted one of Shearer's tosses and ran thirty yards for a touchdown.

The game was the best-played contest of the season, all of the Frankford boys displaying brilliant football. The fans, too, took things to heart and were cheering like madmen all during the fray.

The followers of the Hornets apparently had realized as never before that the 1928 machine is one of the best ever assembled in the country and if they will show some more of the same pep in the future we are sure the men of Ed Weir will not fail them and the 1928 pro football championship will return to Frankford.

NEW YORK GIANTS DEFEAT POTTSVILLE ELEVEN, 13-7

The New York Giants, champions of the National Professional Football League, defeated the Pottsville Miners by a score of 13 to 7 in a league game at the Polo Grounds election day. Nearly 20,000 persons saw the game and a New York high school contest which formed a preliminary attraction.

The Giant outfit, although minus Bruce Caldwell, Jack McBride and Haggerty, outplayed the visitors all the way. Eckhart scored the first touchdown for the Giants in the second quarter and in the third Hinkey Haines ran 20 yards around right end for the other. Eckhart kicked successfully for the extra point. Pottsville avoided a shutout when Latone plunged across the goal line in the final period after a fumble had been recovered on the opposing 10-yard mark.

SPORTS

Back in December, 1926, the Frankford Yellow Jackets won the championship of the National Professional Football League. This year they are making another strong bid for the title, and although the New York, Chicago and Providence teams in particular offer stern opposition, the Yellow Jackets should finish very near the top.

Professional football is sometimes criticized for its lack of spirit and fight. Frankford cannot be indicted on that score, as one trip to the Yellow Jacket Stadium at Frankford Avenue and Devereaux Street will prove. Never did a college team have a more loyal band of supporters than do the Yellow Jackets in the residents of Frankford.

Champion Bugle Corps and Yellow Jacket Band to Accompany Team and Rooters to Pottsville

Loyal Rooters Returning from New York Unanimously Decide to Invade Pottsville This Sunday

Heretofore the loyal followers of the Yellow Jackets have annually supported their favorites in only one league game played away, that at the Polo Grounds in New York City, but this year they will make two trips.

They will accompany the team to Pottsville, having already chartered a special train. It is Armistice Day and Pottsville is holding a celebration. The Bugle Corps and Band will also accompany the Rooters and assist in celebrating the 10th anniversary of the signing of the Armistice.

The fans, even though it rained all of last Sunday, did not have their spirits dampened, and coming home on the train a vote was taken on the Pottsville trip which proved unanimous.

Are you going to help swell the crowd?

Why not become a Loyal Rooter?

Detroit Drops to Tie with Bears for Third Place as Roller Wins to Deadlock Jackets

Bears Hand Pyle's Yankees Crushing 27-0 Setback While Maroons Lose Pair of Games

Benny Friedman and his Detroit Wolverines hit the skid for fair last week-end when they fell from their high position at the top of the National Football League to a tie with the Chicago Bears for third place.

Singularly enough two teams are tied for first place, two on even terms for the runner-up position and another pair dividing the third place honors. Only a single touchdown was made in the game at Providence on Sunday, the contest marking the first time that Friedman, et al., has been blanked. A forty-yard pass completed by George Wilson was the only score of the game at Providence.

Out in Chicago the Bears continued to win and before a crowd of 15,000 sent the Yankees down to a 27-0 defeat. The Bears were consistent for one thing in that they scored a touchdown in every period. Four Bears took a part in the scoring. The touchdowns were made by Roy White, Walquist, Romney and Senn.

Pottsville's Maroons lost both on Sunday and Election Day. They were the victims of Green Bay on Sunday 26 to 14 and on Election Day fell before the New York Giants 13 to 7. It was a poor trip for the Maroons who dropped all four games on the road. They are likely to drop their fifth this afternoon and naturally Frankford fans wish them no hard luck but want to see the Jackets win tomorrow even though it would be six successive losses for the upstaters.

Forward passes at Green Bay early in the game paved the way for the Packers to amass a lead of 19 to 0 in the first-half. Pottsville came back and rallied, but the spurt near the finish was too late. Quarterback Dunn was tossing aerials with wonderful precision, three resulting in Packer touchdowns. The winners completed 14 of 17 passes. Latone starred for Pottsville making both touchdowns.

Tin horns blared on election day in Gotham as the Giants scored a 13 to 7 victory. A holiday crowd of 20,000 witnessed the fray. Hinkie Haines was in rare form and was a dominant factor in his team's success. Once he caught a kickoff of his own two-yard line and ran it with thrilling speed eight yards beyond the middle of the field, thereby producing that so rare spectacle which was common to the football of yesteryear.
