The Brooklyn Dodgers

Since the return of professional football to Brooklyn in 1930, the Dodgers have always been rather weak at the end positions. This season, however, the Dodgers are unusually well fortified at this position. The purchase of Tom Nash from Green Bay has helped the Dodgers considerably and his addition to the squad will give it all of the end strength necessary.

Besides Nash, the Dodgers are now carrying Paul Riblett of the University of Pennsylvania, Harry Kloppenberg of Fordham, Van Rayburn of Tennessee and Johnny Lyons of Tulsa. It is also probable that Ollie Sansen, one of the finest defensive backs in the league, will be used at an end position where he is just as at home as he is in the backfield.

Nash is the type of end that Brooklyn has sought these many years. Big, fast and experienced, he has been considered the best end in the game for the last three years.

Tom is a product of the University of Georgia where he played three years of varsity ball after starring with the freshman team. He joined Green Bay in 1928 and was an outstanding player from the very start. He is now at the height of his career and should prove a valuable man to Brooklyn for several years.

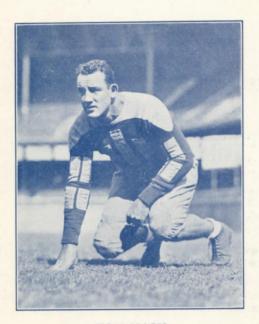

Nash can do anything asked of him on a football field. His experience as a big league outfielder has made of him one of the greatest pass receivers in the league. In fact, he is rated second only to Johnny Blood of Green Bay in this department by such eminent authorities as Benny Friedman and Red Cagle. He is shifty getting away for a pass and defensively he is brilliant in diagnosing an opposing offensive and in getting down the field under kicks.

An idea of how naturally Tom plays his position may be gained by his first day with the Dodgers. He was given a sketchy explanation of some of Brooklyn's pass plays and immediately stepped into the lineup and worked smoothly with the team, carrying out each of his assignments perfectly.

Tom played baseball with the Giants in 1929 and 1930, being farmed out to Buffalo of the International League each year. He was also with Atlanta of the Southern Association where he hit 360. He gave up his baseball career for football inasmuch as he is one of the highest salaried men on the professional gridiron.

In all instances other than in the exceptions noted herein the rules of the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association are to be followed.

KICK-OFF AND FREE KICK

- 1. The receiving team may line in any position beyond the ten yard restraining line.
- 2. It is permissible for the kicking team to use a natural tee made from the soil in the immediate vicinity of the point of kick-off.

FLYING BLOCK AND TACKLE

The flying block and flying tackle are permitted.

FORWARD PASS

The passer may pass the ball from any point behind the line of scrimmage.

TIME OUT

Officials must notify the captain of each team when time has been out three (3) times—and no penalty is to be imposed for additional time out unless such notice has been given.

DEAD BALL

In Rule 7—Section 7—Article (1a) of the Intercollegiate rules omit the words "when any portion of his person except his hands or feet touches the ground."

PERSONAL FOULS

Use of hands—in Rule 10—Section 2—Article 1—Item 2 of the Intercollegiate Rules, omit the words "players on defense may not strike the opponent on the head, neck, or face with the palms of their hands."

CLIPPING

The penalty for clipping shall be 25 yards—officials shall enforce this rule to the letter.

GOAL POSTS

The goal posts shall be placed on the goal-line instead of ten yards beyond.

The Brooklyn Dodgers

The Dodgers have the biggest man in the league in Harold Ely of Iowa. Bugs weighs 275 pounds, and formerly played with the University of Iowa. Of all things, Ely is a bridge instructor—not constructor, please, Mr. Printer—during the off-season.

Milo Lubratovich, 235 pound tackle of Wisconsin, saves paper book match covers. The Dodger veteran of two years has his den at home entirely papered with these covers.

Stumpy Thomason, the Georgia Tech star that fumbled Roy Riegels into notoriety in the Rose Bowl game of 1929, is the only member of the original Brooklyn team of 1930 on the squad today. Stumpy is a great favorite with Brooklyn fans and will see plenty of action this season.

Dick Richards, Brooklyn blocking back, lost his pants in a football game during his college career at Kentucky. He forgot the name of the cigarette one is supposed to light on such occasions and smoked a pipe instead. Now he is never seen without his trusty pipe, which accounts for his air of nonchalance.

Paul (Swish) Riblett is one of the fastest ends in the league. Ben Douglass, halfback, is a great pass receiver, the result of his basketball activity at Grinnell College where he played the court sport for four years. . . . Nothing entrances Coach McEwan as much as watching a snake charmer in action . . . Shipwreck Kelly of the Dodgers was never shipwrecked, nor was he ever a flagpole sitter . . . How he received his nickname is still a mystery . . . Finicky Fishel of Syracuse is very particular about having his name spelled correctly. For instance, he haves to see it spelled F I C H E L, and that's only a slight error . . . Lubratovich and Leo Raskowski don't care how their names are spelled as long as they can cash their pay checks.

• A. M. WILKINS has flown the night air mail over 150,000 miles for TWA. It takes healthy nerves to hang up a record like that!

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. They are milder, richer in flavor. They never tire your taste or get on your nerves.

HEALTHY NERVES
TO FLY THE MAIL

AT NIGHT!

IT TAKES

• WILKINS joins a fellow pilot, W. Niedernhofer, at Newark Airport, for a chat and a smoke. "Camels never ruffle or jangle my nerves," Wilkins says.

STEADY SMOKERS TURN TO CAMELS

A. M. WILKINS, air-mail ace, says: "It's a steady grind, all right, living up to our tradition that the mail must go through! That's why I smoke Camels. And I smoke plenty! Camels never ruffle or jangle my nerves, and I like their mild, rich flavor."

Camels never tire the taste—never get on the nerves. Your taste and your nerves will confirm this. Start smoking Camels today and prove it for yourself.
