WHERE DOES YOUR MONEY GO ?

To help Armed Forces personnel and their families—in time of need—through the offices of the Army Emergency Relief, Navy Relief Society, and the Air Force Aid Society official relief organizations respectively for the U. S. Army, U. S. Navy, and U. S. Air Force . . . In the last 12 benefit games, YOUR attendance made possible total contributions of $548,985.08. These funds help the armed forces relief agencies to provide: 1. Financial assistance to widows and orphans of servicemen. 2. Care and assistance to service personnel, to wounded servicemen and to their families. 3. Hospital-medical attention to needy families and dependents of servicemen. 4. Pre-natal and obstetrical care of needy servicemen's families. 5. Cash grants to service personnel and dependents in emergencies.

THE EISENHOWER TROPHY

Awarded to the Outstanding Player of the Armed Forces Football Game

President Dwight D. Eisenhower's active interest in annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Games has been an inspiration since he took part in the original conference at which plans for the series were first discussed in Washington, D. C., in the spring of 1946.

In 1953, the President authorized the presentation of a trophy to be awarded formally to the outstanding player of the game, selected by the sports writers attending the game.

WINNERS OF EISENHOWER TROPHY

1953—Harry Jagade—Cleveland Browns

1954—Frank Gifford—New York Giants

1955—Ed Brown—Chicago Bears

1956—Darrel Brewster—Cleveland Browns

1957—Fred Williams—Chicago Bears

1958—Willie Galimore—Chicago Bears

WAR DEPARTMENT
THE CHIEF OF STAFF
WASHINGTON

Chicago is to be commended for its patriotic gesture in sponsoring the football game for the benefit of needy servicemen and for the emergency assistance of their families. The net proceeds resulting from the usual enthusiastic attendance of Chicagoans at this thrilling game will result in generous contributions to help carry on the work of the Army Emergency Relief more effectively.

This is a tribute to the many heroes of the war which has just passed. Spectators will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are doing a part in seeing that our wounded heroes and their families are given continued aid and are not forgotten.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

1946 ★ 1959

President of the United States

WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, D. C.

I am happy that the four great newspapers of Chicago have joined together to support the Annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Game. This cooperation by the newspapers in backing the game between the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants in this series will result in a significant contribution to the official relief agencies of our Armed Forces. I am confident that the benefit game will be supported wholeheartedly by the people of the Chicago area.

GREETINGS FROM GOVERNOR WILLIAM G. STRATTON

With the staging of the Fourteenth Annual Armed Forces Football Game between the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants, once again the residents of Illinois and the Midwest will be able to contribute handily to the relief agencies of our Armed Forces.

The fact that these two teams have competed against each other in some historic games should add to the great spectacle that will greet spectators on September 11th.

On behalf of the people of Illinois, I congratulate the sponsors of this game knowing full well that they derive a great deal of satisfaction for a job well done.

Sincerely,

William G. Stratton
Governor

GREETINGS — and appreciation!

It is a privilege to greet those in attendance tonight at the 14th Annual Armed Forces Football Game, and to thank each of you for your support of this game which insures another substantial sum of money for the agencies providing aid to deserving servicemen and their families.

The Chicago Tribune is again proud to join with the other Chicago newspapers in presenting this fine sports event, and we are grateful to the owners, coaches and players of the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants for offering tonight's spectators another outstanding football game in this series and for their important contribution to this very worthy cause.

Chester M. Campbell

PUBLISHER

The sports department of The Chicago Tribune takes pleasure in participating in the presentation of the annual Armed Forces Football Game. We congratulate the man who inaugurated the game, George Halas. We also congratulate the football fans who have made possible the contributions to the relief agencies.

Success has been based on the caliber of the game rather than the cause, tho it is most worthy. Thus, we offer best wishes to the New York Giants.

No matter tonight's score, the real winners again will be the servicemen and their families.

W. H. ARNOLD

*Commanding General
Fifth United States Army*

On behalf of the members of the Fifth United States Army, I extend our appreciation to the Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association, the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants for their efforts to make this worthwhile event possible.

This is an era when strong military forces are necessary for the maintenance of peace throughout the world. It is essential, therefore, that funds be available to assist the Services relief societies in providing emergency financial aid to our military personnel wherever they may be stationed. The unselfish contributions of participants and spectators alike have helped in guaranteeing this timely assistance, for which we are extremely grateful.

I extend my sincere thanks to each of you for your loyal and continued support to the men and women in the service of their country.

MAJOR GENERAL
HAROLD R. MADDUX

Commander Tenth Air Force

On the occasion of the Fourteenth Annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Game, I would like to thank you for your part in this program. The Chicago Bears Football Club, the New York Giants, the four great metropolitan newspapers, and the Chicago football fans can take justifiable pride for making this worthwhile event possible.

Just like you in civilian life, we in the Air Force sometimes face sudden personal emergencies requiring immediate financial aid. The proceeds of these games go to the Air Force Aid Society and comparable agencies in our sister services to which our servicemen and their families turn in time of need.

Your participation in this annual event assures that financial assistance will be available. On behalf of the United States Air Force personnel and their families, I wish to express my appreciation for your thoughtfulness and support.

REAR ADMIRAL
E. P. FORRESTEL

Commandant Ninth Naval District

The occurrence of this 14th Annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Game gives me an opportunity once again to express my personal appreciation and that of all the Navy men and women in the Ninth Naval District for the generous contribution given by the Chicago Bears Football Club and the Chicago newspapers to the Navy's emergency assistance program. It also gives me an opportunity to join with our hosts in extending a cordial welcome to this event and to thank all of you in attendance for your interest and support.

The Navy is pleased that we will have a part in the pageantry to take place here tonight, and trust that it will in some measure serve as an expression of our gratitude that we are able to share with our sister services the benefits of this very worthwhile game.

REAR ADMIRAL
ALLEN SMITH, JR.

*Chief of Naval Air Reserve Training
U.S. Naval Air Station, Glenview, Illinois*

It is a privilege for the Naval Air Reserve Training Command to again be included as part of the support force for the Annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Game.

We play but a small part in this great project, but the benefits received through financial support of the Armed Forces Relief Agencies have been most gratifying. We are especially appreciative for the opportunity to continue this wonderful relationship with our Chicago friends and neighbors and to do our part in making this Fourteenth Annual Classic the biggest and the best.

To the Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association, the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants we offer our heartiest congratulations and a rousing "Well Done."

Allen Smith Jr

N. F. TWINING

Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff

Members of the Armed Forces throughout the world join with me in commending Chicago for its patriotic gesture in sponsoring this; the 14th Annual Armed Forces Football Game.

I extend our sincere gratitude to the Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association, the members of the Chicago Bears Football Club, The New York Giants, and all the many others who have made this most worthwhile game possible.

I wish both teams the best of luck in their unselfish participation in this football classic.

ARLEIGH BURKE

Admiral, United States Navy

In time of conflict the people of America have never failed to support the men in the Navy ships at sea and on the bases ashore. In time of peace the need for such support is not readily apparent, but in some cases is still urgently needed.

Chicago has always had a reputation for hospitality and the Navy has always felt at home in this wonderful city.

Most of you will not be aware of the use to which the funds you contribute will be put, but I can assure you that many Navy families will benefit from your generosity.

LYMAN L. LEMNITZER

General, United States Army, Chief of Staff

On behalf of the United States Army, I offer thanks to the members of the Chicago BEARS and the New York GIANTS as well as to the football enthusiasts attending the Fourteenth Annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Game in Chicago.

Those of you who participate in this benefit game or support it by your attendance make a valuable contribution to the Army Emergency Relief Society.

My thanks extend also to the managements of the competing teams and to the publishers of the Chicago newspapers for the effective and loyal support they have given this event.

THOMAS D. WHITE

General, Chief of Staff, United States Air Force

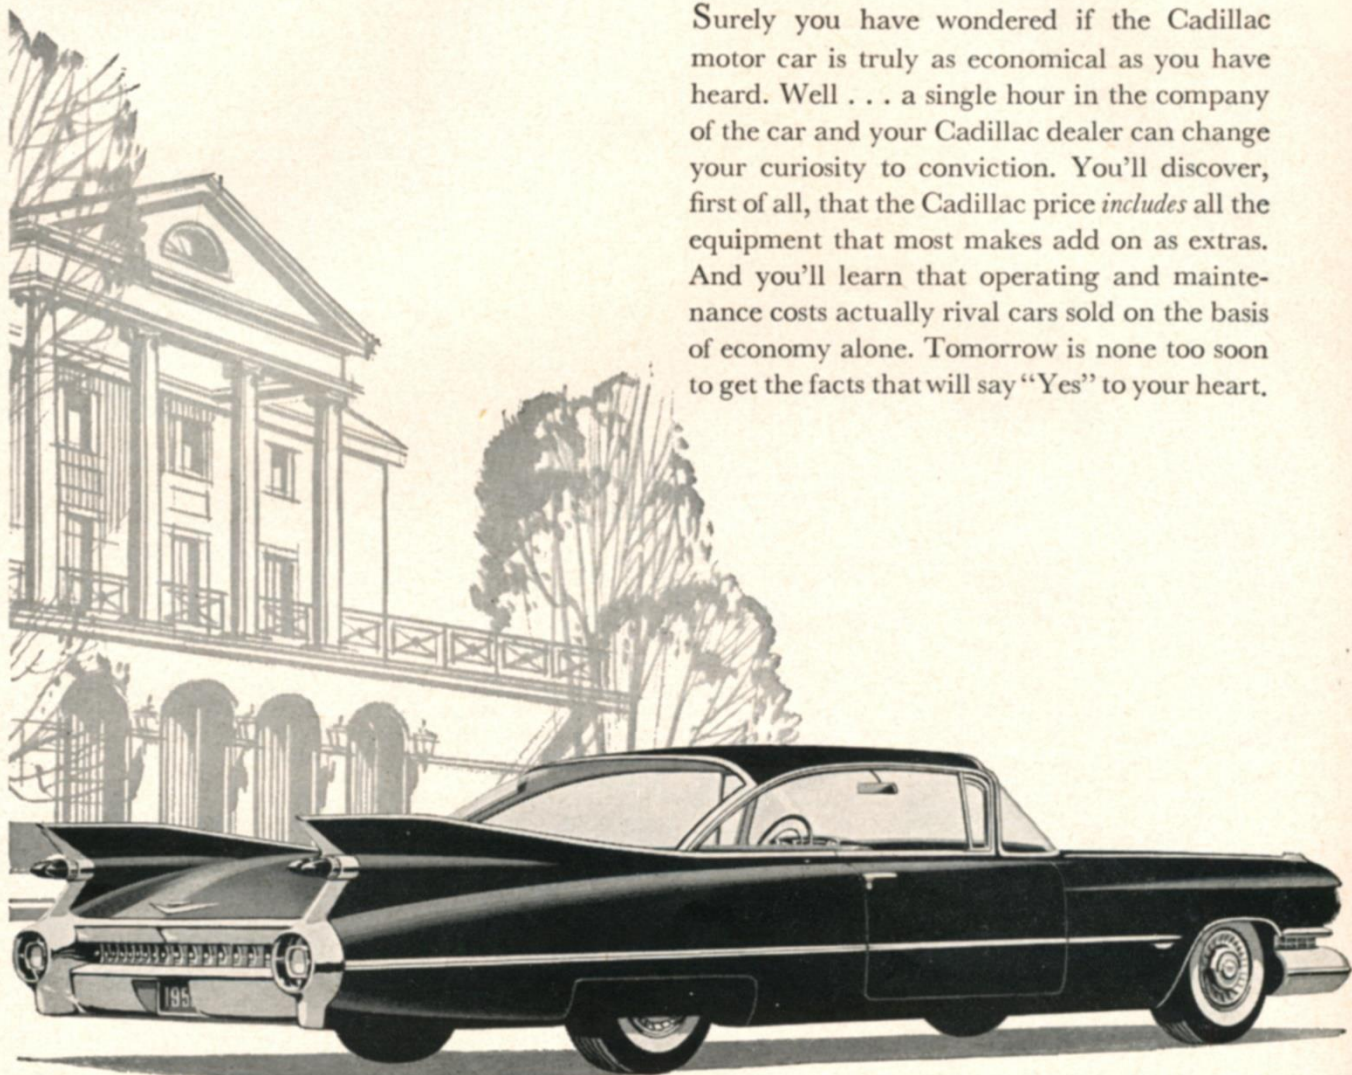

Every year our Air Force Aid Society receives a most generous contribution from the Armed Forces Benefit Football Game held in Chicago. These funds provide welcome assistance to needy Air Force personnel and their dependents in time of distress.

We in the Air Force send our gratitude and best wishes to the football fans in Chicago, the Chicago Bears and New York Giants, and Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association for their enthusiastic, unselfish and patriotic cooperation.

PROCLAMATION

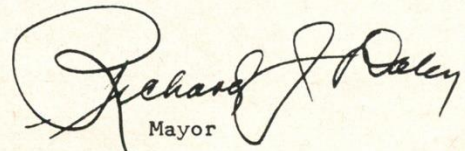

WHEREAS, the fourteenth annual Armed Forces football game under the combined sponsorship of our four Chicago newspapers will be played at Soldier Field, Chicago, on Friday, September 11, and

WHEREAS, since 1946, when this spectacular sporting event was inaugurated by the Chicago Bears for the purpose of providing funds for the Armed Forces relief societies, more than $548,985 has been raised for this most worthy and patriotic cause; and

WHEREAS, this colorful game, scheduled to be played this year between the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants, provides Chicagoans annually with an opportunity to demonstrate their appreciation to the members of the Army, Navy, and Air Force:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Richard J. Daley, Mayor of the City of Chicago, in order to stimulate city-wide interest in this great sporting event and the patriotic purpose it fulfills, do hereby proclaim Friday, September 11, 1959, as "CHICAGO'S ARMED FORCES DAY."

Dated this 26th day of August, A. D. 1959.

Mayor

WE'RE HAPPY TO BE OF SERVICE!

The Chicago American again considers it a privilege and an honor to serve as co-sponsor of the 14th Annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Game.

We salute the owners, coaches and playing personnel of the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants for their efforts in making this evening a success.

Thanks to this aid and cooperation of the two opposing teams and the football fans of Chicago, life will be made a little easier for the hundreds of persons who turn for aid to the military relief agencies.

Tonight we again present a sport event that promises thrills, spectacular action and rugged competition as only two top teams can present.

When you add to those qualities the fact that it is being staged in behalf of the men and women in our Armed Forces you have a "natural" that's a winner in any League.

We on The Chicago American are happy again to be part of this great show—not only because it IS a great show, but also because it's a great show which aids a greater cause.

NEIL McELROY, The Secretary of Defense

On behalf of all of us in the Defense Department, I want to express appreciation for the generous public spirit of those participating in the 14th renewal of the Annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Game.

This sports classic each year adds substantially to the ability of the Service relief organizations to assist the men and women of the Armed Forces in times of personal emergency.

We are grateful to the Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association for its sponsorship of this event, and to the National Football League owners and players for their enthusiastic backing. To the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants we send a special word of thanks.

Best wishes to you and your colleagues for another outstanding season of professional football.

WILBER M. BRUCKER, Secretary of the Army

The men and women of the United States Army join with me in expressing our deep appreciation to everyone who has helped to make possible the Annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Game.

The athletes, spectators, and all who have contributed to this Fourteenth Annual event and to those of previous years, deserve the heartfelt appreciation of Americans everywhere for their immeasurable contribution to the welfare and morale of members of the Armed Forces of our Nation.

No other gesture could provide the members of our country's defense team with a greater assurance of public confidence and support.

WILLIAM B. FRANKE, Secretary of the Navy

On the occasion of the Fourteenth Annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Game, I extend to each of you who support this fine charity the deep thanks and appreciation of the entire Navy.

The financial aid provided by the proceeds of this football game has helped many men of the Armed Forces and their families in time of need.

I extend, too, a special thanks to the Chicago newspapers, the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants for making this year's classic possible.

JAMES H. DOUGLAS, Secretary of the Air Force

It is a real pleasure for me to welcome you to the 14th Annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Game. For over a decade now the enthusiastic support of Chicago football fans has made this event, one to be remembered by all of the Armed Services. The revenue derived from these games has been of immeasurable assistance to the Air Force Aid Society in the past.

We send heartiest congratulations and sincere appreciation to the Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association, the Chicago Bears, and the New York Giants.

BRIGADIER GENERAL
FREDERICK W. ELLERY

*Commanding General, 45th Artillery Brigade
(Air Defense) (Chicago-Gary Defense)*

*Acting Commanding General, 5th Region
United States Army Air Defense Command*

I am happy to acknowledge the support of the Chicago citizens who have actively given of themselves with financial aid and generous hospitality, through their attendance at the fourteen annual Armed Forces Benefit Football Games and other patriotic deeds, for the soldiers of the United States Army Air Defense Command.

Surely we shall justify your confidence and your loyalty as we strive to maintain a high degree of around-the-clock air defense readiness and protection of your communities with Army Air Defense NIKE-AJAX and NIKE-HERCULES missiles.

The survival of a nation such as ours depends on the willingness of its citizens to bear arms and to risk death in defense of its freedom.

This event is designed to commemorate and to honor the citizens who have thus served and sacrificed in the Armed Forces of The United States. Without them we should not be gathered here peacefully, free to enjoy a spectacle like this and to go our ways afterward as we please.

What the members of our Armed Forces have done can never be forgotten. What they still must do today and in the urgent, challenging future is of deepest concern to each of us. Our resources, our time, attention and support belong to them and the problems they face on our behalf. Our safety rests in great measure on the wisdom and foresight with which the Armed Forces are directed.

Thus, this event is more than ordinarily significant. In the pleasure and excitement of a great athletic contest let us be sure we understand and remember its deeper meaning and import.

A Salute to the Game—

The most breath-taking sports event of 1958 was the sudden-death triumph of Baltimore for the professional football championship of the world. But it takes two to make such a game and the New York Giants had to be great themselves to carry the title game into overtime.

Those are the same Giants who, tonight, are so much a part and parcel of this 14th annual Armed Services game. Here at Soldier Field the attending fans not only get their money's worth, but that value is also carried to the far-flung families of America's fighting forces in terms of a benefit fund that helps spread peace and tranquility among our military dependents.

This game is sufficient attraction in itself, but its underlying purpose enhances the spectacle . . . and the Daily News is proud, as a member of the Chicago Publishers Association, to have a prominent role in sponsoring the Bears and Giants in a performance which assures a share of victory for everybody.. Just give a yell for ol' Chicago!

John P. Carmichael

Sports Editor, The Chicago Daily News

A Salute to its Founder—

Chicago sees George Halas begin his 40th year in professional football here in Soldier Field tonight, sending the Bears he founded in 1920 against the New York Giants in a charity game he founded in 1946.

Still dynamic, resourceful, imaginative, Halas drives his players and his staff constantly toward that one unyielding demand of champions—victory. So it is with our fighting men and women, whose relief agencies this 14th annual Armed Forces Football Game benefits.

In the previous 13 games $548,985 has been divided equally between the Army Emergency Relief, the Navy Relief Society and the Air Force Aid Society—and thousands of football fans have thrilled to the pageantry of America's military might on parade. Here is an athletic event unique in all the world.

Halas relishes this opportunity to meet the Giants once more in the Armed Forces Game. In 1956 the New Yorkers slaughtered the Bears 47-7 for the National Football League championship. In their only meeting since, a 1957 exhibition game in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, the Giants did it again 24-17.

Halas is not one to leave business of this kind unfinished.

GEORGE S. HALAS, founder, owner and coach of the Chicago Bears, is in the second season of his fourth tenure as their mentor. He coached the team from 1920 through 1929; took over again from 1933 until November 1942 when he entered the Navy; returned in 1946 and continued through 1955; and then came back again last year. This is the fortieth season since Halas started the team in 1920 and over that long period, as owner and/or head coach, he has fielded squads that have compiled a National Football League record of 320 victories, 132 defeats, 35 ties. The Bears have won seven world championships and twelve divisional titles. A native of Chicago, Halas attended the University of Illinois and starred in football and baseball from 1915 to 1917. He joined the Navy in 1918 and was a member of the Great Lakes eleven that beat the Mare Island Marines in the 1919 Rose Bowl. In World War II, Halas re-entered the Navy with the rank of Lieutenant Commander and served for twenty months in the Southwest Pacific with the Seventh Fleet and on the staff of Admiral Nimitz as welfare and recreation officer for the Pacific Fleet and Pacific Ocean Naval Bases. He received the Navy's Bronze Star medal.

LUKE JOHNSOS is in his 31st season with the Bears, first as a player, and then, in 1937, as a member of the coaching staff. He is a Northwestern graduate who had a baseball tryout with the Cincinnati Reds before joining the Bears in 1929. When Halas entered the Navy in 1942, Johnsos and Hunk Anderson became co-coaches, leading the Bears to the title in 1943. They continued in that capacity through 1945. Luke has been with six Bears championship teams, as player or coach. Apart from football, he is a partner in the Johnsos-Coppock Printers, Skokie, Ill.

CLARK SHAUGHNESSY, technical advisor since 1951, specializes on defense. This is his 44th season as a coach, a service record that includes head coaching posts at Tulane, Loyola of the South, University of Chicago, Stanford, Maryland, Pittsburgh and Los Angeles Rams as well as advisory position with Washington Redskins. He is a graduate of Minnesota and a native of St. Cloud, Minn. Shaughnessy is a noted exponent of the T-formation.

GEORGE ALLEN, newest member of the staff, came to the Bears in October 1958. He was end coach for the Los Angeles Rams in 1957, following a successful collegiate coaching career at Whittier, Cal., College and Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa. At Whittier, his teams had a 17-7 conference record for six seasons with a perfect league mark of 9-0 in 1952. A native of Detroit, he played varsity football at Marquette and Alma, Mich., College under the Navy program in World War II. Then, he attended Michigan, graduating in 1947. He coached at Ann Arbor high school before entering the college field. He is a member of Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary scholastic and athletic fraternity.

PHIL HANDLER, line coach, is in his 30th NFL season, as a player or coach. He joined the Bears staff in 1952 after having been head coach twice and co-coach once of the Cardinals. He is a Texas Christian graduate who played guard for the Cardinals six seasons, beginning in 1930, and then was assistant under Ernie Nevers, Milan Creighton and Jimmy Conzelman. His scouting was held largely responsible for the success of the 1947-'48 Cardinal teams. He was Cardinal head coach in 1943 and 1945 and co-coach with Ray Parker in 1949. Phil is a salesman for the Douglas Lumber Company.

CHARLES "CHUCK" MATHER, in his second season on the Bears staff, came from the University of Kansas where he had rebuilt the Jayhawks from a 0-10 record in 1954, his first year there, to second place in the Big Eight Conference in 1957. That earned him 1957 Big Eight Conference Coach of the Year honors. Previously, Mather made a spectacular record at Washington high school in Massillon, Ohio, where his teams won 57 games, lost only 3 for .950 while winning six straight state championships. Holder of a Master of Arts degree from Kent State, he developed such coaching methods as use of IBM in a valuation of players and use of closed circuit television on sidelines during a game.

JOHN L. "PADDY" DRISCOLL, administrative coach, was head coach in 1956 and 1957, leading Bears to Western conference title in '56. A Northwestern graduate and one of greatest backs in Big Ten history, Paddy was a team mate of Halas at Great Lakes and later played briefly with Chicago Cubs. First joined Bears as player in 1925, after having starred for Cardinals. Became member of coaching staff in 1941.

SID LUCKMAN is in his fourth season as quarterback coach. One of Bears' and National Football League's all-time greats, he retired as a player in 1951 after leading team to championships in 1940, 1941, 1943 and 1946, and winning Most Valuable Player award in 1943. He played twelve seasons in all, following a brilliant collegiate career at Columbia University. Aside from football, he is vice president of Cellucraft in Chicago.

ED ROZY, trainer of the Bears since 1948, is a protege of the famed Matt Bullock and in his own right, has become known as one of the nation's foremost in his field. He came to the Bears from Marquette University where he coached boxing, wrestling and fencing in addition to serving as trainer.

Nobody, that's who! Because, after all, no other car delivers comfort, convenience and solid practicality in such generous helpings as Chevy. That's why you see more Chevrolets on the road than any other car. That's why year after year more people buy Chevrolet.

For instance, lots of people buy Chevrolet simply because of its silky ride, quarterhorse responsiveness and up-to-the-minute styling. But how about those other Chevy virtues? Its economy of operation, we mean, and its staying power and solid workmanship.

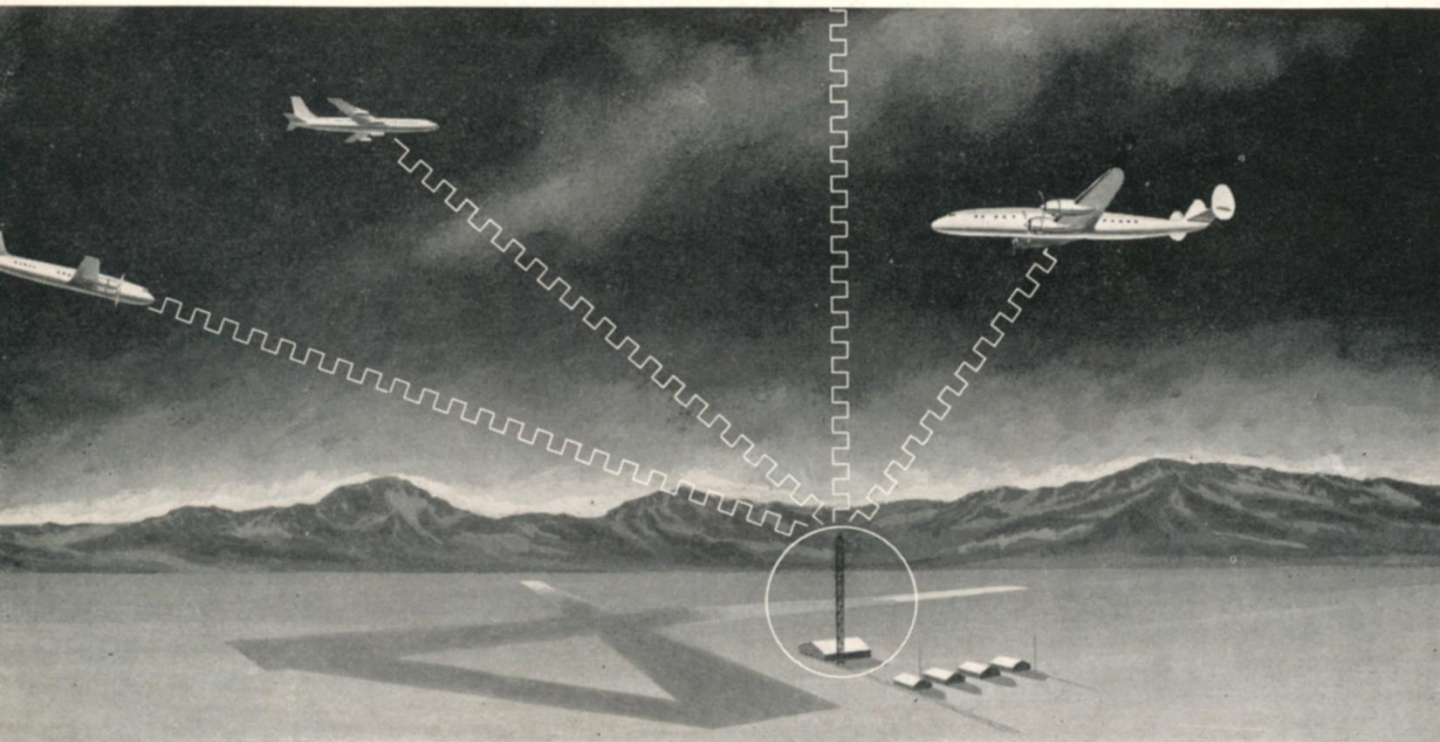

Why don't you visit your Chevrolet dealer's soon, and find out how many ways Chevy pampers you. Chances are you'll place your order long before you come to the end of the list! . . . Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Detroit 2, Michigan.

"AJAX"

AGACS, Experimental Automatic Ground/Air/Ground Communication System is a new concept in Air Traffic Control Communications to meet the accelerated pace of increased air traffic. Primary objectives are efficient usage of frequency spectrum, added safety through increased reliability and reduced burden to pilot and controller, and adaptability to all classes of aircraft. AGACS provides compatibility with existing ground and airborne communication equipment, selective addressing of information, and a minimum number of frequency changes during flight. The system utilizes two-way time division data transfer over existing ground and air communication links to provide an automatic, mutual exchange of information. The airborne facilities display to the pilot the last significant Air/Ground and Ground/Air message quantities, while the controller may recall from central memory-storage equipment the last Air/Ground and Ground/Air message quantities for display. The AGACS program is still in the developmental stage. In August, 1959, RCA provided initial models of both airborne and ground equipments for the Bureau of Research and Development of the Federal Aviation Agency for extensive experimentation and flight tests.

JIM LEE HOWELL . . . Head Coach. Took over club in 1954 which had 3-9 record the previous year. Through shrewd trading of draft picks for veterans, rebuilt squad to win world championship in 1956, the Giants' first since 1938. His five-year record compares with best in the NFL. Howell's clubs have won 37, lost 21 and tied 2, a mark surpassed only by Paul Brown's 41-17-2 at Cleveland in the eastern division. Only coach to defeat Brown for sectional honors in the east, having done it twice in three seasons.

Joined the Giants in 1937, among brilliant crop of rookies who won world championship in 1938 and eastern titles in 1939 and 1941.

Although not a high school player, Howell won position with Arkansas varsity under Fred Thomsen. Team was one of pioneer "aerial circus" outfits and was called the "passingest team in the land." Jim Lee was basketball captain, leading team to Olympic finals at Madison Square Garden in 1936.

Born September 27, 1914, at Lonoke, Ark. Member State Legislature 1940. Lives in Englewood, N.J., during season. Married Sue Campbell of Lonoke; they have three children, two boys and girl.

AL SHERMAN . . . Offense. Sherman returns to the Giants in a coaching capacity this season after an absence of six years. Allie was offensive aide for Steve Owen from 1949 to 1953 but moved on to the Canadian loop when the current coach regime, under Jim Lee Howell, took over in 1954. One of the first T quarterbacks in college football and recognized as an astute student of the game.

Was drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles in 1943 and stayed with Greasy Neale's club for five years, until 1947. Neals describes Sherman as having one of the "sharpest football minds in the business."

Born February 10, 1923. He and wife Joan have three children, Randy, Lori and Robin. In off-season Sherman couples football with sales promotion work.

JOHN DELL ISOLA . . . Line Coach. Came to Giants to tutor offense and defense lines in '56, after 11 years at Dartmouth in similar role.

One of the great pro linemen of the pre-war era, as running guard for Giants 1934-40. Seldom weighed more than 200 but was one of hardest hitters in league. In fact, served as "copper" for his mates.

Played 58 minutes average per game for three years at Fordham as center, 1932-34, and was voted MVP of squad in '33. East-West game of '34.

Born Feb. 10, 1912, married, 3 children.

KEN KAVANAUGH . . . Coach of Ends. Joined Giants in '55 to organize ends on pass patterns. Assisted at Villanova '54.

One of most famous offensive ends in league history with Bears. On NFL title teams 1940-41-46. Second high scorer with 330 points and top touch-down maker, with 55, in Bears history. In Bears Hall-of-Fame.

All-America end at LSU. Star on baseball team, and made good as minor leaguer before joining Bears.

Born Nov. 23, 1916, at Little Rock, Ark. Operates ranch in California, and runs lumber business in Philadelphia. Married, 2 children.

TOM LANDRY . . . Coach of Defense. Player-coach as defensive halfback 1954-55; full-time coach '56 on. Applies keenly analytical mind of engineer to Giant defenses.

Under Blair Cherry at Texas was defense specialist, sub quarterback, and starting fullback in two-platoon ball. Deadly quick-kicker. In Orange Bowl after '48 season rushed 17 times for 117 yards.

Born Sept. 11, 1924. Two degress for Texas U. Practicing engineer. First lieutenant Army Air Corps. Married, 3 children.

Why some American fathers will dress like this for dinner tonight

These fathers belong to a SAC bomber crew that's on the alert. Their families may join them for dinner—but they must wear their flying clothes.

The alarm—practice or real—may not come tonight. But if it does, they have a scant six minutes to reach their B-52, poised at the end of the runway.

For they know full well what all Americans should know—that the enemy's first objective would almost certainly be to destroy our SAC bases here and abroad in one great stroke...and thus leave us at his mercy.

New strength for the Air Force

North American is at work on the new weapon systems, manned and unmanned, that will help build a balanced defense. From North American come the GAM-77 Hound Dog air-to-ground missile for the B-52... the F-108 long-range interceptor... the B-70 manned bomber, 2,000-mph successor to the B-52... the large liquid-propellant rocket engines that power the Air Force Atlas and Thor, the Army Jupiter and Redstone, and the Jupiter "C" that put the Army's Explorer satellites into orbit.

History of the Armed Forces Benefit Football Game

General of the Army
Dwight D. Eisenhower
U.S.A.

Fleet Admiral
Chester W. Nimitz
U.S.N.

General
Carl Spaatz
U.S.A.F.

The Armed Forces Benefit football game, the most unique, colorful and worthy of professional football's pre-season games, has in the 13 years of its existence raised $548,985.08.

Net proceeds from the game have been equally divided among the Army Emergency Relief, the Navy Relief Society and the Air Force Aid Society which were created to assist service men or women and their families in times of emergency. No government appropriations are available for support of these agencies, so they must depend on popular subscription within the ranks and contributions from outside sources for the funds needed to carry out their charitable work.

The idea of an annual football game to benefit these organizations was conceived by George S. Halas, the man who founded the Chicago Bears and coached them through most of their 38 years.

It first occurred to him during World War II while he was serving as a Commander with the Navy in the Pacific. His plan was to make the Bears the perennial host team and, as a stimulant to attendance, make the game the occasion of the Bears' first appearance of the season in Chicago.

In 1946 Halas presented a detailed outline of his plan to Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz, on whose staff he had served during the war. Admiral Nimitz was enthused and had Halas enlarge on his proposal at a meeting attended by General Dwight D. Eisenhower, then Army chief of staff, and General Carl Spaatz, chief of the Air Force.

General Eisenhower, whose interest in football hasn't waned since his playing days at West Point, was especially enthusiastic and the three branches of the military promised their fullest cooperation and support.

The first game was played September 1, 1946, between the Bears and the New York Giants. Originally the games were played in Wrigley Field, autumnal home of the Bears, but the series later was switched to Soldier Field because of its greater seating capacity and adaptability to the military pageants which have become as much a part of the Armed Forces Benefit extravaganza as the football game itself.

As the springboard into the season, the Armed Forces Benefit game presents football at its best. Because the competing teams already have reached a physical peak, have mastered their plays, and are making their final tune-up appearance before the start of the National Football League season, the games have been consistently close and spectacular.

Following are the Results of the Series:

1946—Bears 19, New York Giants 0.
1947—Bears 28, Washington Redskins 0.
1948—Bears 42, Boston Yanks 7.
1949—Bears 20, New York Giants 17.
1950—Bears 10, Philadelphia Eagles 3.
1951—Cleveland Browns 32, Bears 21.

1952—Bears 17, New York Giants 7.
1953—Cleveland Browns 20, Bears 14.
1954—Bears 28, New York Giants 24.
1955—Bears 24, Cleveland Browns 21.

A SALUTE TO THE ARMED FORCES OF THE UNITED STATES FROM THE CHICAGO FEDERATION OF MUSICIANS

★ We're proud that many of our members now serve in the ranks of the fighting men on land and sea, and in the air.

★ We're proud too that in our own ranks today stand veterans of recent wars and active reservists ready to serve their country again.

MORNING
QUARTERBACK

Good management, like a good quarterback, calls the right signals during the game and not on Monday morning. In the field of aviation and space, management must also call the right signals now for a game that won't be played for years to come.

At Grumman, the signals have already been called for nuclear propulsion systems, for the plasma harnessing of hydrogen fusion, for missiles, for hydrofoil seacraft, and for others still classified.

At Grumman, the signals that were called years ago have won design competitions: the A2F, a carrier-based attack fighter; the Mohawk, a twin turboprop higher-performance observation airplane for the Army; and the Eagle, an air-to-air and air-to-ground missile.

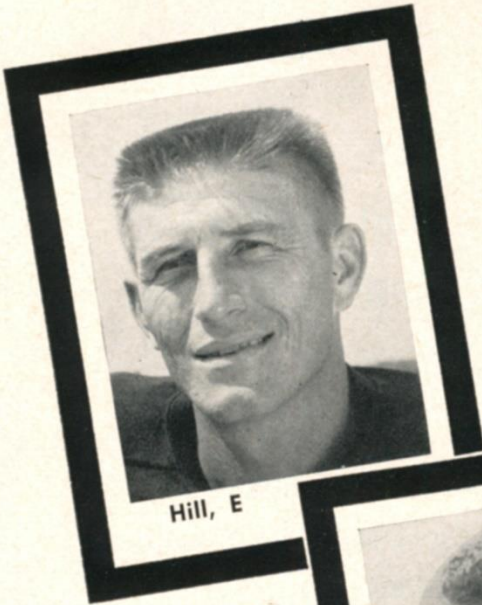

At Grumman, Monday morning is the beginning of the future.

School: Florida A. & M.

Birthplace: St. Augustine, Fla., 3-30-1935.

Joined Bears: 1957; no. 5 selection, 1956.

NFL record: All-around value reflected in two-season statistics; voted most valuable player and winner of Eisenhower Trophy in last year's Armed Forces Benefit game victory over Cleveland, scoring four touchdowns (21, 35 and 15 on rushes; 95 yard kick-off return); also scored four touchdowns against Los Angeles Rams in regular season game, 1957; returned kickoff 99 yards against Baltimore last season; Pro Bowl, 1959.

GEORGE, Bill . . . Guard, 6:2½, 235; eighth year.

School: Wake Forest.

Birthplace: Waynesburg, Pa., 10-27-1929.

Joined Bears: 1952; no. 4 selection, 1951.

NFL record: All league middle guard, 1955, 1956, 1958; all-league linebacker; 1957; Pro Bowl, 1955, 1956, 1957, 1958, 1959; defensive captain, succeeding George Connor, since 1956; rated as top level play diagnostician with quick mental and physical reflexes; in seven seasons, has intercepted nine passes, for 36 yards total return; and recovered ten opponent fumbles; also place kicks with career record of four field goals in seven attempts and 14 extra points out of 15 tries, most of latter in 1954 when he took over assignment after injury to George Blanda.

GIBRON, Abe . . . Guard, 5:11½, 248; 2nd year. (10th in NFL)

School: Purdue.

Birthplace: Michigan City, Ind., 9-22-1925.

Joined Bears: 1958; free agent.

NFL record: One of 1958's great comeback stories; worked hard, reduced poundage from 280 to firm 248 and was consistent stalwart on offense; starting guard for Cleveland, 1950 to late 1956, when, released, he signed with Philadelphia Eagles for last three games; Eagle regular through 1957 but released again and signed with Bears; All-league guard, 1955; Pro Bowl, 1953, 1954, 1956.

HEALY, Don . . . Guard, 6:3, 255; second year.

School: University of Maryland.

Birthplace: Rome, N.Y., 8-28-1936.

Joined Bears: 1958; trade with Cleveland.

NFL record: Bears got Cleveland's no. 3 choice and selected Healy; improved steadily through rookie season, particularly in his in-line blocking, pulling, trapping and open field work.

HILL, Harlon . . . End, 6:3, 200; 6th year.

School: Florence, Ala., Teachers.

Birthplace: Florence, Ala., 5-4-1932.

Joined Bears: 1954; no. 15 selection.

THE FORWARD LOOK

New truck swims rivers, climbs mountains, floats from the skies.

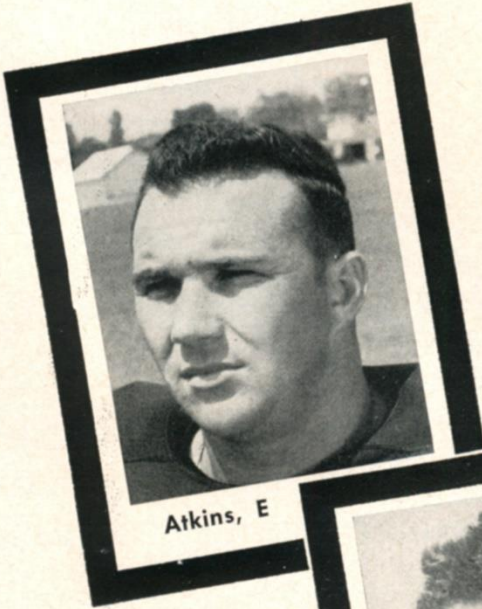

Developed by Chrysler Corporation for the Army, this aluminum 2½-ton-capacity truck is light, and yet rugged enough to be parachuted from the air. Even when loaded, it is still lighter than empty conventional 2½-ton vehicles. Eight-wheel drive carries it over rough terrain with the ease of a tank. An outboard on the tailgate takes it across rivers and lakes like a motorboat. The incorporation of commercial truck components makes it readily adaptable to volume production in existing manufacturing facilities, saving costly tooling and millions of dollars for the taxpayer. NEW YORK GIANTS

ALDRICH, Grover (Pete) . . . Halfback, 25, 185, 6-0.

Pro: Signed as free agent in 1959.

School: Was captain of Middlebury eleven in 1958-59. Was All-New England selection in 1957, and made All-Vermont list in 1956-57-58. Was named most valuable gridder in state in 1958. Played tailback on offense and was crack safetyman on defense. Also captained Middlebury track team. Was Vermont State pole vault champ in 1958 and Eastern titleholder in 1959.

Personal: Single. Spent two years in Air Force as a Cadet. Is working for Masters in physical education.

BARRY, Al . . . Guard, 27, 230, 6-2.

Pro: Drafted by Green Bay in 1953 but remained in school to get degree and complete remaining year of track eligibility. Played regularly as Packer rookie in 1954. Spent two years in service and returned to Green Bay in 1957, playing offensive guard. Giants traded '59 draft choice to get Barry from Packers last year when retirements and injuries riddled offensive line. Was key blocker in drive to eastern title.

School: Was offensive guard and defensive tackle for Southern Cal, winning honorable mention on AP All-American team in 1952. Was All-Pacific Coast Conference selection twice. Starred in 1953 Rose Bowl when USC trimmed Wisconsin, 7 to 0. Earned three letters in football and three in track. Hit 50-9 in shot put.

Personal: Married to former Phyllis Annette Beal. Holds First Lieutenant's rank in Air Force reserve. Is insurance agent in off-season.

BRACKETT, M. L. . . . Tackle, 25, 250, 6-5.

Pro: Acquired by the Giants from the Chicago Bears at start of 1958 season, Giants giving up future draft choice to land big fellow. Is listed as defensive tackle but also can play offensive center, offensive end, linebacker and defensive end. Figures as replacement behind regular center, Ray Wietcha.

School: All-around star at Auburn but specialized in football. Size made him one of toughest of all collegiate linemen to handle. Won All-Southeastern honors in 1956 and then was a standout for the College All-Stars in annual game against pro champs. Personal: Married.

BROWN, Roosevelt, Jr. . . . Tackle, 27, 245, 6-3.

Pro: Drafted No. 27 in 1953. Pro Bowl 1955-56-57 and '58. AP Offense Lineman of League award 1956. As strong and as fast as any lineman in league. Fine downfield blocker. Reinforces defense line for celebrated Giant goal-line stands.

School: Negro-All-American team. Co-captain. Played in Polo Grounds against Wilberforce in Negro schools classic. Heavyweight wrestling champion at Central I.A.A. meet.

Personal: Born Oct. 20, 1932. Wears glasses. Lives in Teaneck, N. J.

CHOICE, NOT CHANCE!

Under the provisions of its matchless Choice, Not Chance Program, the United States Army offers ambitious high-school graduates an ironclad guarantee that they will receive training in the career field they select. And this offer of special training is backed by a written guaranty of attendance at the course of their choice BEFORE enlistment.

The U. S. Army is making this unequalled offer because it needs a diverse combination of skilled technicians and specialists in a wide variety of fields. The demand for specialization must be met to keep our Army the most modern military organization that the world has ever seen. Thus today's Army offers priceless technical training to qualified men and women sincerely interested in particular career fields.

Remember . . . no matter what your interests are, there is a place for you in the U. S. Army's vast training program. Your Army technical training will pay big dividends in the form of promotions, increased pay, and prestige—not only in the Army but throughout life.

This is United Aircraft

Five divisions and a wholly owned subsidiary, each a specialist in its field, are helping United Aircraft contribute to the exciting future of flight—in whatever form it may take.

PRATT & WHITNEY AIRCRAFT—Pioneer designer and builder of engines for high-performance commercial and military aircraft now flying all over the world; and creators of new propulsion systems for missiles, rockets and future flight vehicles.

HAMILTON STANDARD—Designer and builder of engine controls, environmental control systems, starters, other vital equipment for current and future turbine engine aircraft and missile systems, ground support equipment, and propellers for aircraft flying throughout the world.

SIKORSKY AIRCRAFT—Designer and builder of helicopters for all U.S. military services and many foreign nations, for airlines here and abroad, and for commercial operators the world over. Pioneers in the concept of direct-lift aircraft.

NORDEN—Designer and builder of bomb director systems, radar and electronics, and instruments and components for a large group of missile systems and aircraft.

MISSILES & SPACE SYSTEMS—An organization of leading scientists and engineers with engineering and management responsibilities for complete space vehicle programs.

UNITED RESEARCH CORPORATION OF MENLO PARK—Specialists in research and development of advanced propellants for missile and space machines.
