

Football Findings

Artifacts From The First 100 Years of American Football

Jarvis Field, Cambridge MA

Posted on February 20, 2013 by MM

A great Pach Brothers photograph of Jarvis Field, Cambridge, MA, where Harvard played football before Harvard Stadium was built in 1903. It was on this field that Harvard played McGill on May 14, 1874 under the rules that would evolve into American football.

This entry was posted in Uncategorized. Bookmark the permalink.

Football Findings

Proudly powered by WordPress.